Cairo's Spy Charges Stir Fresh Unrest Over Canal

Picture Admitted Baby Slayer As A Psychological Problem

By SAUL PETT

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — She laughed a lot. She talked a great deal. She ate "constantly," and displayed a child's passion for ice cream and soda pop.

But beneath the pretense of chatty cheerfulness, there were telltale signs of a woman acutely embarrassed by her inordinate size, a lonely woman who seemed to have no life of her own and tried to enjoy vicariously the lives of her temporary employers.

This was the picture slowly emerging today of Virginia Jaspers, the six-foot, 220-pound baby nurse, who told police she shook three infants to death and injured two others in fits of "uncontrolable" temper.

While the big, blonde woman, herself still baby - faced at 33, remained in County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, authorities continued to investigate the strange case. There was much to investigate.

Coroner James J. Corrigan said he would study the death certificates of every child under one year who died in the New Haven area since 1953. Miss Jasper has been known to care for newly born babies in private homes at least since 1948—possibly farther back than that.

But parents whose children were once cared for by Miss Jaspers, said they had no reason to suspect her ability or motives at the time. One was Mrs. Allen Hubbard, whose 13-day-old daughter died in 1948 while under Miss Jaspers' care.

Until Monday, Mrs. Hubbard knew only what her doctor had told her then—that the child died of a cerebral hemorrhage apparently caused by a congenital weakness. Monday, she learned of Miss Jaspers' statement to police—that the Hubbard child was one of three she shook with fatal results."

"Now I don't know what to think," Mrs. Hubbard said. "I have to admit that at the time she handled the baby well. We even had her for our second child.

"True, she was heavy-handed. When she burped the baby, she seemed a little strong. I remember we kidded her about it a few times but thought nothing serious about it.

"Apart from her handling of the baby, she seemed immature. She had this childish delight in eating, especially ice cream and soda. She was always, it seemed, taking pictures of the baby. Poor thing, she seemed to think she would never have a child of her own and lavished all her attention on ours."

Mrs. Hubbard, like other mothers who once employed the nurse, said that long after she left their homes Miss Jaspers frequently sent birthday gifts or cards to her child.

Mrs. John Flanagan, wife of a New Haven attorney, said they were so pleased with Miss Jaspers' care of their child last year they recommended her to friends. Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Hubbard agreed in their version of the nurse's continual chatter and cheerfulness.

Both mothers said that the nurse spent virtually all her off-duty hours either eating or conversing with their guests.

Sees Future For Private A-Industry

COLUMBUS (AP)—Both manpower and economic factors have caused the government to leave to private industry the development of full-scale atomic power plants, an official said today.

Louis H. Roddis, deputy director of reactor development for the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), said the government has handled early experimental phases of the work "because it was felt that only the government could bear the initial financial burden of research and experimentation."

But as for full-scale plants, he said in an address prepared for the Ohio Conference on Peacetime Uses of Nuclear Energy and Radiation Safety that economy of construction and operation is a major factor and "it is particularly important that we keep before the builders and operators the incentive to do an efficient and inexpensive job."

Congress fought at length this year over a Democratic proposal that the government itself build sample producing power plants of various kinds to help provide its power needs and to spur development of the reactors.

Roddis made no reference to defeat of that legislation in his prepared speech.

He expressed hope that in the next 10 or 15 years the country will have "a complete and self-sufficient nuclear industry free from major dependence upon government" not only for the plants themselves but for materials, components and services.

He renewed predictions that by 1970 the United States will have atomic generating capacity of 25 million kilowatts and that by 1975 another 55 million kilowatts capacity will be provided.

By that time, he said, much of the atomic power should be competitive in cost with normal power supplies.

Budget Report Sees Tax Cut Chances Slim

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal budget estimate, boosting the anticipated surplus to a modest 700 million dollars, today left little ground for hope of tax cuts in 1957.

One high administration source said the black ink now in sight is still too narrow to justify any reduction."

The mid-year budget review, issued Tuesday night by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival F. Brundage, showed estimated revenues soaring to $69,800,000,000, up $4,300,000,000 from the government income forecast by President Eisenhower in his January budget message to Congress.

But it also showed federal spending amounting to a peacetime record of $69,100,000,000 in the year which started July 1.

That is four billion dollars beyond Eisenhower's spending estimate and absorbs most of the revenue gains arising from unparallelled national income and boom-level corporate profits.

The result is that the anticipated surplus, figured in January to be a little more than 400 million dollars, now is reckoned at 700 million dollars.

But that figure is much less than the fiscal 1956 surplus of $1,754,000,000 which the administration considered too small to justify tax cuts this year.

A year ago, the administration foresaw no such surplus, but instead a deficit of $1,700,000,000 for 1956. But business conditions turned out to be much better than they anticipated then.

Stevenson Seeks Farm Ideas In Conference In Sioux City

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said after his arrival here today for a conference with Democratic party leaders from seven midwest states that only the Democratic party is concerned with how the farmer is getting along.

The Democratic presidential candidate and Sen. Estes Kefauver, his vice presidential running mate, reached here after a 2,700 mile flight that started at Santa Fe, N. M., and included a political foray into the Pacific northwest.

Clayton Fritchey, Stevenson's press secretary, said it was believed to be a new record for a single day's campaigning. The Democratic standard bearer put in between 21 and 22 hours of traveling, handshaking and speaking.

Called into closed conference here were party leaders from Iowa, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

It marked the third strategy huddle held by Stevenson and Kefauver in as many days.

Stevenson, in a statement issued after his arrival, started right in to woo farm votes.

"Historically," he said, "the American farmer has gotten into trouble when the Republicans were in the White House. And he has prospered under Democratic leadership."

Sen. Humphrey (D - Minn) and Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota were listed as co-chairmen of the conference at which Stevenson said he and Kefauver wanted to get suggestions on what they should do to help the farmer "when we get to Washington next January."

The Democratic standard bearers held a closed conference in Vancouver, Wash., late Tuesday with about 225 party leaders from Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and Utah.

It was the second and their regional strategy huddles in a fast-moving tour to key areas. The first conference was held in Santa Fe, N. M., Monday.

Stevenson and Kefauver flew into Portland, Ore., to launch their foray into the Pacific northwest and immediately charged the Eisenhower administration with giving away precious natural resources to the favored few instead of developing them for all the people.

More Plotters In Riesel Case Held By FBI

Details Of Telvi's Role Outlined By Federal Attorney

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI today held racketeer Johnny Dio and three other hoodlums as plotters of the acid blinding of Victor Riesel, labor columnist.

Their motive was to intimidate Riesel from testifying on labor racketeering before a federal grand jury, said U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams.

Williams said a "punk"—Abraham Telvi—was hired for $500 to hurl the acid and was slain after he demanded $50,000 for the job.

"When Telvi first was approached and got the job to throw the acid he thought it was a man named 'Marshall' and that it was only a husband and wife job, and worth only $500," Williams told newsmen.

"When Gondolfo Miranti, one of the accused conspirators, fingered Mr. Riesel, Telvi then knew who the victim was. He then went back and asked for more money.

"Telvi was just a punk and some of the co-conspirators . . . . said the job was worth $50,000 and they said Telvi had been used. Then Telvi sent word back to Dio, and Dio did give him more.

"Telvi was originally slated to get $500 but Johnny Dio sent him $1,500 in all, but some of it stuck to the hands of some of the co-conspirators who were to deliver the money."

* * *

RIESEL WAS blinded April 5 when acid was tossed in his face outside a Broadway restaurant. Telvi was found shot to death July 28 in an East Side street.

After the arrests Tuesday, Williams said:

"Johnny Dio, among others, was the man who directed, instigated and arranged the payoff to Telvi in the acid attack on Victor Riesel. This is in direct relation to Riesel's planned testimony about labor racketeering before the federal grand jury."

The dapper, 42-year-old Dio—whose actual name is John Dioguardi—was nabbed at his home on Point Lookout, Long Island, N. Y.

Picked up elsewhere were Thomas Dioguardi, 40, his brother and an executive in a cotton goods firm; Domenico Bando, 47, a Brooklyn baker; and Charles Tuso, 44, a garment worker. All have long criminal records.

A fifth man, Charles Carlino, 43, also was charged Tuesday with conspiracy. He was arrested Aug.

Alabama Approves Segregation Laws

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the state legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

It, and a similar amendment covering public park facilities which also apparently passed, are designed to provide a bypass of the Supreme Court's decisions outlawing segregation in schools and recreational facilities.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial measures. Those with few Negroes generally opposed them.

Job Plea Rejected, He Turns Bandit

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man who said he was looking for work turned into a holdup man Tuesday after his plea for a job was turned down in a restaurant in suburban Plainville.

Police said David Poole, 20, of Branch Hill, charged with robbery, surrendered to authorities in Seymour, Ind.

Investigators said a waitress, Miss Patricia Clem, 16, told them that after asking about a job, Poole choked her into unconsciousness and took $10 to $20 from the cash register.

Union Leaders Vote To Cast Lot With Dem Campaigners

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders, having decided to cast their lot with the Democrats in the coming election, turned today to planning how they can help defeat President Eisenhower.

The powerful AFL-CIO executive council wound up a long, closed door argument by voting to recommend formal support for the Democratic ticket of Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee against Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

The decision was reached late Tuesday with some misgivings. Some council members felt their 15 million member labor organization would be sticking its neck out and cutting itself off from any chance for favors from the Republican party.

But the council, reportedly against the advice of AFL-CIO President George Meany, voted 14-8 to make an endorsement and then cast that endorsement by a 17-5 count to the Democrats.

The decision was steered by a solid bloc of leaders of former CIO unions sparked by former CIO Chief Walter Reuther. He had been instrumental at the Democratic convention in getting Stevenson nominated.

* * *

REUTHER'S CLIQUE persuaded a sprinkling of former AFL union locals to go along, while eight leaders of former AFL unions opposed any endorsement.

Meany and Secretary-Treasurer William Schnitzler abstained from voting. Four other members of the council were absent.

The AFL-CIO leaders today called a meeting of their political operating arm, the Committee on Political Education, to discuss plans for marshaling votes for the Democratic Stevenson-Kefauver combination and for labor-endorsed candidates for Congress and key state offices.

No formal endorsements for the congressional and state races were to be announced, but the union leaders planned to go over the records of rival candidates and lay the basis for picking and choosing among contenders in major contests.

The 28-man AFL-CIO Council actually voted only to recommend a Stevenson-Kefauver endorsement to a meeting of heads of all 140 AFL-CIO unions in Chicago Sept. 12.

But Meany conceded this will only be a formality and said he hadn't "the slightest doubt" the larger group will concur.

* * *

IN VANCOUVER, Wash., where Stevenson and Kefauver met with political leaders Tuesday, Stevenson was described by his press secretary as "delighted" at the news.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on behalf of Eisenhower.

However, in Washington, Vice President Nixon issued a statement saying he is "confident" that "American workers will support the Eisenhower administration despite the executive council's action.

Nixon added that "we recognize the right of the AFL-CIO leaders to take a personal stand on candidates and issues" but he felt sure "the leaders or organized labor do not intend to try to bind their members or dictate to them how they should think or vote."

Meany, declining to say how he felt about it all, pledged to support the decision wholeheartedly. But he declined to predict any Democratic victory in November, saying "I'm no prophet."

Meany had counseled for many months that the newly merged AFL-CIO steer clear of tying itself to any political party, saying he couldn't see much basic difference between the two major parties anyway.

In announcing the Democratic endorsement, however, Meany said the big labor organization was only exercising an American privilege to make a political choice.

Jersey Chief Seen Charmed By Ohio Girl

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Robert B. Meyner, the bachelor governor of New Jersey, has left newsmen with the impression he's definitely interested in the young lady he's currently dating—Helen Stevenson.

The 48-year-old governor enjoyed himself at a press conference Tuesday fielding questions tossed his way about the tall, 28-year-old brunette.

In the past he has sometimes answered impatiently when state house correspondents pressed him about his private life, usually saying simply he had "no comment."

Meyner dated Margaret Truman before her marriage last spring, for example, but always insisted "we're good friends."

He laughed heartily when the subject turned to Miss Stevenson at Tuesday's session and his eyes danced from one questioner to another.

"Are you planning to see her again?" one newsman asked.

"Foolish question," Meyner chortled.

Miss Stevenson's father is President William Stevenson of Oberlin College in Ohio. Among the things she and Meyner share in common is a liking for Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, a distant cousin of hers.

Meyner escorted Miss Stevenson to a summer stock production of the Broadway musical comedy "Plain and Fancy" at Neptune on Monday night.

London Suggests Nasser Trying Propaganda

Still No Word From Egyptian President About Conference

LONDON (AP)—Egypt pushed a fresh anti-British campaign today amid suspicion in London that President Nasser is adopting a new tack in the Suez Canal dispute.

British newspapers and officials generally linked Egypt's expulsion of two British diplomats on spy charges—denied by Prime Minister Eden's government—with the controversy over the Egyptian President's nationalization of the vital waterway.

The British press speculated that Nasser had set off the spy charges to counter any thought among his people that he is backing down in the canal dispute by agreeing to see the five-nation Suez Canal committee headed by Australia's Prime minister Robert G. Menzies.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said the Egyptian government, whatever its motive, has created "a grave new situation bound to prejudice negotiations about the future of the canal."

The Menzies committee waited anxiously for the Egyptian leader to fix a time and place to hear their arguments in favor of putting the canal under international control. Nasser agreed Tuesday to get together with the group but did not suggest details of the meeting.

Menzies rushed another message to Cairo suggesting talks later this week in the Egyptian capital.

* * *

BRITONS WERE angered at the spy charges from Nasser's government, coming at a time when other nations were concentrating on a peaceful settlement of the canal issue.

Egypt charged that two secretaries in the British embassy in Cairo—Visa Officer James Gove and Commercial Attache John Flux—were the "contacts" for two British civilians arrested early this week on espionage charges.

The British Foreign Office denied the charges but said it had no choice but to recall the two diplomats. Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, British ambassador in Cairo, immediately made a strong protest.

Sharp retaliatory action was expected from Britain. Prime Minis-

Today's World News In Brief

Japanese Accuse Dulles Of Threat

TOKYO (AP)—Some Japanese officials and newspapers today accused Secretary of State Dulles of threatening to take over Okinawa if Japan gives Russia the southern Kurile Islands of Kunashiri and Etorofu.

Others said he was trying to help the Japanese in their peace treaty negotiations with the Russians.

Dulles told his prrss conference in Washington Tuesday he had "reminded" the Japanese government and Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu that nations which have signed the San Francisco peace treaty could make new claims on Japan should Russia gain more than the San Francisco signers did.

Such additional claims are provided for in a clause of the San Francisco treaty. Dulles said he "merely reminded the Japanese of the existence of that clause. I did not attempt to indicate what its operation would be or that in fact it would be invoked."

The United States currently occupies Okinawa as a military base but recognizes Japan's residual sovereignty over the island.

The Soviet-Japanese treaty negotiations have been deadlocked for months over Russia's refusal to return the two Kurile islands closest to Japan, occupied by the Russians after World War II.

ALGIERS (AP) — The French claimed their troops killed at least 13 rebels Tuesday in scattered clashes in Algeria.

Nationalist grenade attacks on cafes, a train derailment and an attack on an Algiers police box took the lives of 3 persons and wounded 29 others.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burmese officials say Chou En - Lai Communist Chinese premier-foreign minister, is coming to Rangoon in December to discuss the dispute over the poorly defined Burma-China border.

The officials said Chou's acceptance of the Burmese government's invitation for negotiations had increased prospects of a peaceful settlement.

Prison Slaying To Be Given Jury

COLUMBUS (AP) — Investigators today planned to take the facts of an Ohio penitentiary slaying direct to the Franklin County grand jury's September session.

Both Capt. F. C. Moon, head of the state highway patrol's investigation division, and officials of the county prosecutor's office, said they planned to ask for a first degree murder indictment against Glenn Smith, 23.

Smith, of Springfield, is accused of slaying James Nichols, 33, also of Springfield, in the prison yard last Monday. Nichols died after being hit over the head with a hammer.

State Fair Nears Attendance Mark For Entire '55 Event

Many concession operators, pleased by the way business has been, credit the Roy Rogers show with booming the fair's attendance. The Rogers show closed Tuesday night after playing to standing room only audiences since the fair opened last Friday.

Today was Directors of Agriculture and Ohio Fair Managers' Day. Sales of 4-H and FFA steers in auction sales are featured. Red Foley and his Ozark Jubilee take over the grandstand entertainment.

This Droodle was suggested by a Magician friend of mine, Chan Canasta. Chan isn't actually a Magician. He's more of a human Univac machine and does psychological magic by telling people what they are thinking about. He stopped by the Schwine-Kitzenger Institute with me last Monday and offered to give a free demonstration by telling us what Mrs. Schwine was thinking about. Unfortunately for us she had just been watching Liberace on TV and when Chan started revealing her thoughts, she got so embarrassed she started throwing beer cans. That's when Chan did his best trick of all. He disappeared.

The London Daily Mail reported a move under way for a Western combine of nations to buy or lease the canal from Egypt, with much of the money to come from the World Bank.

The Mail says Egypt could use the money—reportedly somewhere between 200 million and 560 million dollars—to build the Aswan high dam.

Nasser said he nationalized the canal to get the money for the billion-dollar dam on the Upper Nile after the United States and Britain withdrew their offers to help finance the project.

Sen. Bender Denies He Abuses His Franking Rights

COLUMBUS (AP) — U. S. Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) says his weekly news letter goes to relatively few people.

Bender made the comment in answering charges Tuesday that he used congressional free mail privileges in campaigning for re-election.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democratic candidate to unseat Bender, called Bender's free use of the mails a "trespass upon the rights of taxpayers."

In Ceveland, Sen. Bender said: "The weekly news letter 'This Week in Washington', like those sent out by most members of Congress, goes only to a small portion of my constituents."

He added that he augmented the franking privilege with personal income in answering most of his constituents.

"The franking privilege is the most important right accorded members of the House and Senate," the senator said, "and I have not abused it. It is the one source of communication between members of Congress and their constituents."

Patrol Seeks Curb On Holiday Deaths

COLUMBUS (AP)—The state highway patrol will be out in "full force" to try curbing Labor Day weekend traffic deaths.

Col. George Mingle, superintendent of the patrol, said Tuesday auxiliary highway patrolmen will help man posts throughout the state to free regular patrolmen for duty on the highways.

Mingle said the patrol also will have at least one plane aloft to watch traffic.

Pickaway Sweet Corn Led Ohio In 1954 Listing

Top 100 Counties In U.S. Include This Area 80th

Pickaway County led the state of Ohio when sweet corn was harvested for sale from 608,568 acres on farms in the United States in 1954.

Of the total acreage, 59.5 percent was from 100 leading counties, according to 1954 Census of Agriculture figures released today by the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Only two Ohio counties were mentioned in the top-ranking 100.

The other Ohio county, ranked close behind Pickaway for its sweet corn harvest in that year, was Erie County.

Palm Beach County, Fla., was the leading county in sweet corn acreage in 1954 with 17,352 acres —2.8 percent of the U. S. total.

Columbia County, Wis., ranked second with 11,780 acres; Yakima, Wash., third with 9,733; Faribault, Minn., fourth with 9,586, and Dodge, Wis., fifth with 9,437 acres.

* * *

IN THE list of 100 counties, Pickaway ranked 80th, with 1,980 acres for sweet corn harvested for sale. Erie County, ranked 82nd, had 1,898 acres.

The top 100 counties were distributed by states as follows: Minnesota, 20; Wisconsin, 16; Ilinois, 12; Maryland, 10; New York, 6; Idaho, Indiana and Oregon, 5 each; Pennsyvania, 4; Caifornia, Iowa, New Jersey, Ohio and Washington, 2 each; Alabama, Deaware, Florida, Massachuetts, Michigan, Texas and Utah, 1 each.

Jury Indicts LaMarca On Kidnap Charge

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — Angelo John LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic, was indicted today for kidnaping and felony murder of little Peter Weinberger.

The Nassau County grand jury acted quickly, returning the indictment just two hours after starting deliberations.

The child's grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Betty Weinberger, and several investigators were called into the jury room in swift succession to testify.

The charge of felony murder is technically different from a first degree murder charge. It charges the death of a person during commission of a felony—in this case kidnaping.

A jury may recommend mercy with a conviction of felony murder, contrasted to a mandatory death sentence for first degree murder.

A conviction for kidnaping, under state law, may include the death penalty if it is proved the victim died as a direct result of the kidnaping.

The Weinberger boy was snatched July 4 from his carriage in the yard of the family's home in Westbury.

The FBI announced arrest of LaMarca Aug. 21 and turned him over to county officials. The infant's body was found the next day, in a thicket near a rural road. The mother identified clothing as that of her son.

One of the defendant's two lawyers, David Markowitz, said he expected LaMarca to enter a plea of temporary insanity "caused by his desperation over debts."

Guard Officer Graduate Of Rifle School

First Lt. Bob Shaw of 224 N. Scioto St., battalion staff assistant with the 166th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, Ohio National Guard, graduated from the National Small Arms Firing School held at Camp Perry Aug. 24-27.

The firing school was conducted for expert riflemen and rifle instructors in the various branches of the armed forces. Lt. Shaw qualified for the school by firing high score at the ONG Summer training camp held this month in Kentucky.

Over 5,000 armed forces personnel from all sections of the country participated in the weapons course at the Camp Perry firing ranges.

Shaw reportedly ranked 15th in a group of over 1,500 men firing the M-1 rifle. The high score posted by the local guard officer qualifies him as an expert rifle instructor.

The school was under the direction of an M-1 rifle committee from Fort Benning, Ga.

Saltcreek Plans Teachers' Meeting

Teachers at Saltcreek Township school will hold a meeting Friday at 2 p. m. at the school, Superintendent Walter C. Haney announced today.

Recover Second Body In Area Where U.S. Plane Shot Down

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Navy today announced recovery of the second body of a crewman of the patrol plane which was shot down off the China coast last Thursday.

The first body was found Friday in an area about 90 miles southeast of Shanghai and near the eastern fringe of the islands which flank the South China coast.

A brief message from the 7th Fleet, charged with search operations in the area, said that the body of the second crew member was found by a U. S. destroyer in the general vicinity where bits of wreckage and the first body were previously recovered.

The crewman was not identified.

The Navy Mercator plane had 16 men aboard. Communist China admits having shot down a plane the same day the U. S. craft went down, but says it attacked a Chinese Nationalist aircraft.

President Eisenhower discussed the incident this morning with Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The White House did not announce the results of the discussion.

Dulles said afterwards that investigation of the incident was a complicated, time-consuming process involving the identification of plane fragments and debris and measurements of currents and tides.

State Department officials have taken the position that they need more information before deciding what course of action to take in the affair.

Meanwhile, they were reported considering making public the text of a note from Peiping concerning the incident. The note, disclosed by Dulles Tuesday, was described by some informants as nonbelligerent in tone and even containing a provisional apology.

While the Reds asserted that the aircraft they attacked was Chinese Nationalist they reportedly said also that if it turned out to be an American plane they were sorry about the incident.

Likely Applicant Found For Job On City Council

Cook's Successor Will Probably Be Named Tuesday

Republicans in city council apparently have a willing replacement for Lee Cook, who resigned last meeting as spokesman for the second ward in preparation to moving from the city.

Councilman Richard Penn declined to give the name of the potential appointee, but added:

"From what he says, I know he'll take the job if it's offered to him. However, he doesn't intend to campaign for it, or anything like that."

The potential appointee is a former school teacher.

For the next two meetings, council will have the authority to appoint a replacement for Cook, whose resignation became official at the August 21 meeting. However, if the lawmakers fail to agree on the appointment within the customary 30-day period, Mayor Bob Hedges can make the appointment.

* * *

THE Democratic bloc on council apparently has no preference to conflict with the man who will be suggested by Penn. For a time they considered a local school official but were advised that legal technicalities would block the appointment.

Council President Ben Gordon said the job "seems to be wide open" for applicants.

It seemed likely a decision on the vacancy will be made when council meets next Tuesday, the day after Labor Day.

Set Negotiations Friday On Long Telephone Strike

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Company and union negotiators have tentatively agreed to resume negotiations Friday to try to settle the 45-day-old strike at the Consolidated Telephone Co., Frederal Mediator E. L. Phillips said Tuesday.

The meeting was scheduled for 2 p. m. at Portsmouth.

The mediator said the meeting was contingent on whether contempt of court proceedings filed by the company against 56 strikers are completed in time. A hearing is scheduled on the company charges Thursday morning in Scioto County Common Pleas Court before Judge James Lang Jr., of Adams County, sitting here on assignment. The company claims the strikers violated a court injunction restricting pickets.

The strike by some 600 members of the Communication Workers of America began midnight July 14 upon expiration of a one-year contract between the company and union. Disputes over working conditions have barred agreement on a new contract.

A man bound over to the Grand Jury on a "drunk" driving charge and a motorist receiving a double fine were among the four defendants heard in Circleville Municipal Court today.

Pauley Deal, 26, of Columbus was bound over under $200 bond on the "drunk" driving charge. He was arrested by Officer F. W. Sowards.

For the double violation, David L. McDowell, 21, of Columbus was fined $25 and costs for not having assured clear distance and $25 and costs for failure to have a driver's license. He was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey.

The other two cases brought before Judge Sterling Lamb included:

* * *

CECIL E. Fields, 49, of Huntington, W. Va.; $50 and costs for operating a motor vehicle with license plates belonging to another car; arrested by State Patrolman James Cooper.

Aaron Douglas, 70, of Columbus; $5 and costs for passing a red light; arrested by Officer Sowards.

Fugitive Shot By Cincy Policeman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Thomas Bradley, 31, was shot fatally today by a policeman after he reportedly wielded a knife and then failed to obey a command to stop running.

Patrolman Dan Downing fired the shot which felled the man, a former convict. Police Sgt. Don Hopewell said Downing and Patrolman Harold Klopp forced Bradley's automobile to the curb after the man had driven through a stop sign.

When Downing asked to see his driver's license, Bradley reportedly struck the officer and slashed at him with a knife before starting to run.

Bradley was paroled last May after serving part of a 1-25 year term for armed robbery and assault to kill.

U.S. Observers See Red Playing Political Game

View Russ Trying To Prod Nasser Into Rejection

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials believe that Russia is playing a tricky and dangerous game of Middle Eastern politics by campaigning against international operation of the Suez Canal.

The danger lies in the increased risk of military conflict if the Soviets should prod Egyptian President Nasser into rejecting any satisfactory settlement with the Western powers.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference Tuesday that Soviet propaganda to Egypt was denouncing the international opism" and "colonialism."

Obviously, Dulles said, "the effect of that—presumably the intended effect—was to make it as difficult as possible for President Nasser to accept. Nevertheless, I do believe that President Nasser has a sufficient influence and authority to accept a fair plan."

Nasser agreed Tuesday to meet with a committee which will carry to him the internationalization proposal adopted by last week's 22-nation conference in London.

But Nasser did not commit himself to accept the Western-sponsored proposal or even to use it as a basis of negotiation.

* * *

WEEKS OR perhaps months of negotiation may be necessary to determine the eventual outcome. There is yet no indication what Nasser considers a fair plan.

Although three Far Eastern nations joined Russia in voting against the plan at the London conference, Dulles said all the nations except Russia "were really trying to find a way to a peaceful and fair solution."

Diplomatic experts said the Russian game apparently is to maintain some degree of turmoil in the Middle East, to worsen Western ties with Arab nations—particularly Egypt — and to build Soviet power and influence in the Arab world.

Meanwhile the Egyptian embassy in Washington announced Tuesday night it was undertaking to recruit pilots in the United States to help guide ships through the 103-mile channel. Egyptian officials had already taken similar action in some western European countries.

The State Department had anticipated such an Egyptian move here and decided in advance that the United States government would not object.

Officials said the stated policy of the United States is to keep the channel open and operating and if some American citizens want to contribute to that purpose by becoming canal pilots the government will not stand in their way.

They might be advised, however, that the canal now is a trouble zone and that they might encounter some risk in going there at present.

More Plotters In Riesel Case Held By FBI

18 and held in $100,000 bond as a material witness.

Two other alleged conspirators in the attack were arrested Aug. 17. They are Joseph P. Carlino, 43, who is not related to Charles, and Gonfolfo Miranti, 37.

* * *

THE FBI gave this account of how the gang allegedly mapped out and executed the attack:

Johnny Dio and Tuso met with Miranti at his candy store a few days before the attack. Miranti then got in touch with Bando, who, through Joseph Carlino, procured the services of Telvi.

After the attack, Miranti hurried to a meeting with the two Dios and Tuso. He reported to them that the job had been done.

But he had some bad news. Some of the sulphuric acid aimed at Riesel's eyes had splashed on Telvi's face.

Miranti was therefore ordered to make certain Telvi did not run to a doctor for treatment.

The FBI has said Telvi was later wiped out because his acid-marked face made him a livi.., tell-tale link to the crime.

Passenger Hurt When Passing Cars Tangle

Fred Barton, 22, of Columbus suffered a possible fractured pelvis in a two car collision six miles south of Circleville on Route 23, Tuesday at 12:30 p. m. He was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

The injured man was a passenger in a car driven by Donald J. Farrell, 53, of Canton. Farrell's automobile was reportedly struck from the rear by a vehicle belonging to David L. McDowell, 21, of Columbus.

According to Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey, the accident occurred when McDowell attempted to pass the Farrell car.

Before McDowell could get around the vehicle in front of him, his car struck the left rear of Farrell's automobile, Felkey claimed. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

McDowell was cited for not having assured clear distance.

Clothiers Open Drive To Fancy Up Menfolks

Retailers Promote Fall Lines; Makers Show Spring Togs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) —The semi-annual drive to get men to dress better—or, rather, to spend more on clothes—is getting underway today on several fronts. Some in the apparel industries are taking tips from fashions of 30 years ago. Some are looking to the latest in blends of man-made and nature-made fibers.

Retailers are set to promote their fall lines come Labor Day with its return to school, college and office. And the fall lines in most cases carry higher price tags than last year, with rising labor costs blamed by the manufacturers.

Clothing manufacturers, meanwhile, have turned their backs on the new fall lines the stores are showing. They will start displaying their next spring lines this coming week and announce the new prices. Chances are suits will go higher. Already there's a prediction that men's shirts will go up 5 per cent by spring.

Natural fibers have been staging a comeback and man-made fibers have been in a slump. So many mills making synthetic textiles are closing down for the entire Labor Day week, hoping that will trim inventories.

But at least one of the man-made fibers is looking for better days come spring. Du Pont's textile fibers department reports that 21 leading makers of lightweight suits and sport coats and many slack manufacturers will show blends of 65 per cent or more "dacron" and cotton in the 1957 spring-summer lines due to open soon. Du Pont looks for a 60 per cent increase in yardage sales—to five million yards in 1957, up from three million this year.

Men whose memories go back before the days of the so-called miracle fibers will get a nostalgic twinge out of drives to revive such fashions of the twenties as knickers and white flannel trousers worn with double breasted blue blazers and to turn the recent fad for caps into a full-fledged revival.

The knickers they'll be pushing this year aren't like the old plus fours that dominated the mid-twenties. The new knicker is snug at the knee and the industry is aiming first at hunters and trappers and will sneak up on the suburbs later.

Nixon Retreats To Write Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon flies today to New Jersey to rest and write some of the speeches he will make during "an extensive and vigorous" campaign tour next month.

L. Richard Guylay, public relations director for the Republican National Committee, said tentative plans call for a "backbreaking schedule" of aerial visits, with speeches averaging more than one a day.

Although details were not announced immediately, Guylay said the first campaign swing will last 10 days or two weeks, starting about mid-September.

THIS STRANGE contraption, which looks like a flying saucer pouncing on a plane, is the U. S. Navy WV-2 radar sentry aircraft. It is shown in Burbank, Calif., and is used to test advanced ideas in Lockheed's flying radar stations. The discoid radome is more than 30 feet across. (International)

Bender Wants Lausche To Campaign Like A Democrat

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican U.S. Sen. George H. Bender appears determined to make his opponent campaign like a Democrat.

That's the interpretation politicos place on Bender's new blasts at Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who seeks to unseat Bender come Nov. 6.

Bender termed Lausche "a political fence sitter" and again dared the independent-minded governor to a series of debates in advance of the election.

Still smarting under Lausche's refusal to engage "in a shouting contest with you," Bender asserts the governor should tell Ohioans why he is running for senator.

Engrossed in the Ohio State Fair the governor says he will wage his usual type of campaign this fall. That includes the "county fair circuit."

Both candidates apparently are bidding heavily for the so-called independent vote. Politicans say Lausche has been highly successful in that direction and must continue if he wins again in Ohio where more Republicans than Democrats usually vote.

Bender asserted Lausche made "phony statements" by hinting in 1950 that he favored reelection of the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft. actually, Bender said, Lausche campaigned with Taft's opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, then state auditor. Lausche said recently he voted for Taft.

But what really burns Bender is Lausche's reaffirmed hint that he might vote with Republicans to organize the next Senate if elected. Lausche hinted he might do that to assure a Republican president of a GOP-controlled Senate.

Bender's friends termed the statement an attempt to rob the senator of a prime campaign argument. Republicans, anticipating President Eisenhower's reelection, claim Bender's election might be the deciding vote in regaining control of the Senate from Democrats.

Bender asserts Ohio needs an experienced full time senator like himself instead of one who plays golf frequently. He alluded to Lausche's liking for the game in which he scores in the low 70's.

Ohioans expect Bender to have help in his campaign from Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, cabinet members and other top drawer members of the party. Bender said former presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey of New York, an old golfing partner of Lausche, has offered to help.

Although some Democrats criticize Lausche's show of political independence, others offer him their help.

Sen. George Smathers, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, says he will be glad to answer any Lausche request for aid.

"So far as I am concerned," the Floridian said, "I don't have to worry about how he will vote.

"He's an independent Democrat, but a Democrat nonetheless. I believe when he gets here (in Washington) he'll vote Democratic."

All of which, politicians opine, adds interest to a cruicial campaign in Ohio that has attracted national interest.

Lausche has been quoted variously as saying the race was a cinch and as expressing doubts over his prospects.

"A lot of people feel that I will be elected, but I'm not so sure," Lausche said at the recent Chicago Democratic convention. But if I feel that way about it," he added with a laugh, "then my opponent feels even less sure."

State Mediation Of Telephone Dispute Called For By Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state representative wants the Industrial Commission to mediate the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. strike that disrupted service in several southeastern counties.

Rep. James P. Kilbane (D-Cuyahoga) said he made the request at the insistance of Mayor V. R. Rife of New Boston, a suburb of Portsmouth that lost service because of the 44-day-old strike marked by violence.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche recently called on the Communication Workers of America and the company to settle their differences without disrupting telephone service.

Kilbane is a member of a legislative study committee that began looking into Ohio laws on workmen's compensation, arbitration and mediation, and minimum wages. The committee, a branch of the fact - finding Legislative Service Commission, expects to make recommendations for the next session of the General Assembly.

Kilbane said he felt the State Department of Industrial Relations should look into the telephone strike but recalled that the last Legislature refused to transfer mediation authority to that branch.

Director Margaret A. Mahoney of the Industrial Relations Department said statute permits the Industrial Commission to promote arbitration.

"It should be in the Industrial Relations Department," she told the committee. "The law is doing no good on the books at the present time. It hasn't been used and it won't be. You should either repeal the law or bring it up to date."

The committee adopted a motion by Rep. Paul B. Siple (D-Lawrence) calling for a check of states having labor relations departments with a view to such an addition in Ohio.

Also adopted were motions by Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr. (R-Montgomery) to consider whether Ohio should set up intrastate collective bargaining machinery and by Kilbane for a study of minimum wage laws to correct weaknesses.

Administrator Joseph Scanlon of the new Workmen's Compensation Bureau said first payments to injured workmen now are made within 20 days and that the time soon may be cut further. He attributed reduction in the time lag on payments of uncontested claims largely to the new law creating the bureau last October.

An aide said the bureau would cooperate with any actuary the service commission hires for a study of workmen's compensation rates and classifications.

The last Legislature authorized the commission to employ the actuary but Charles W. Ingler, research supervisor, said restrictions made it difficult to obtain anyone wth proper qualifications.

Rep. John Lehmann (R-Stark) reported that a claim for workmen's compensation filed Sept. 30, 1953, had not been investigated and asked Scanlon why. Scanlon took the case number and said he would look into it. The case was not identified.

The greatest length of life of a housefly is approximately 62 days.

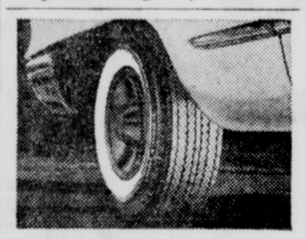

Truck Leaks Acid; Boy Cyclist Burned

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Badger, 13, sprayed by sulphuric acid which had leaked from a truck, was burned critically as he rode a bicycle in suburban Lemay.

A passing tank truck splashed the acid on him. He lost control of the bicycle and fell to the street. His shirt and trousers fell away. A quick thinking witness sprayed him with a hose he was using to water his lawn.

Badger was burned on his chest, arms, face and legs.

The truck driver said a valve apparently jarred open as he crossed some railroad tracks. About 4,000 gallons of acid escaped.

Design For Airpower

(Editor's Note: This column is furnished as a public service by the Office of Information Services, Air Research and Development Command, U. S. Air Force.)

On Top the World

Flights to the moon are decades off. But already the Air Force is probing super-altitudes where planes of tomorrow will operate.

Many problems to be encountered at those altitudes can be simulated in high-altitude chambers — huge boxes in which the air is as cold and thin as it is "upstairs." But some problems cannot be solved on the ground, like the question: What happens to a pilot who bails out and falls miles through space?

Aeromedical officers from ARDC's Wright Air Development Center, Ohio, volunteered to find out. Balloons will be used to take them as high as 90,000 feet because, so far, no operational airplanes can fly that high. A special gondola, 7 feet across and 7 feet high, is being constructed from aluminum and magnesium.

After many months of ground tests, preparation and training, three flights are scheduled at another ARDC Center—Hollomon Air Development Center, New Mexico. The first flight is expected to reach 63,000 feet, the next 75,000 and the last 90,000 feet.

When the balloon reaches its scheduled altitude, one of two officers aboard will jump from the pressurized gondola, his parachute opening automatically at 15,000 feet after miles of free fall. His companion will cut the balloon loose and ride the gondola down to 20,000 feet at which time he will bail out, too. A recovery chute will bring the unmanned gondola down.

The balloonists will be rewarded for their courage by a sight never seen by men before. They will be literally and figuratively on top of the world.

Kangaroo Airplane

A jet fighter nuzzles up to the big bomber . . . a metal arm reaches out . . . the jet is lifted gently into the gaping bomb bay of the bomber like a baby kangaroo into the pouch of its mother.

This is not science fiction but one of a series of Air Force tests which proved the possibility of "landing" fighter planes on large mother aircraft.

In the tests, an F-84 "parasite" fighter approaches a specially modified B-36 from below and hooks onto a boom which pulls the fighter into the carrier's bomb bay. After change of pilots and replenishing of ammunition, the F-84 is lowered, unhooks from the boom and resumes its mission.

Aerial refueling would permit the carrier aircraft to remain aloft for extended periods. Jet fighters and interceptors can also be refueled but their time in the air is limited by the endurance of the pilot and ammunition supply. The "kangaroo" technique might take care of that!

Who knows, this technique may even have commercial possibilities. Just imagine changing from the local to the express in mid-air!

Lifesaver Pill

If the "Mae West" life vest could talk, it could paraphrase the famous words of the actress for which it was named by saying: "Why don't you come up and save me sometime?"

It would say these words to a newly-developed pill which helps to automatically inflate a life jacket when its wearer drops into the water.

Life jackets are provided with two small cylinders containing compressed "Carbon dioxide" — the same harmless gas bubbling from soda water. When strings on the cylinders are pulled, the gas escapes into the life jacket and blows it up like a balloon. The inflated jacket keeps the wearer afloat.

But pilots dropping into the ocean after bailing out from a disabled aircraft may be stunned and unable to pull the strings. That's where the new pill device comes in.

When a pilot "hits the drink," water forces its way to the pill which quickly dissolves with a fizz and produces a cloud of gas. Through an ingenious mechanism, the gas operates the valve through which the jacket is inflated. The whole process takes only fifteen seconds.

There are pills to ease headaches or help digestion. But this is the first pill that can save a man from drowning.

Air Facts and Figures

The wing tanks on a heavy jet bomber are as large as some fighter aircraft.

A wind tunnel used to test aircraft models is four stories high and its huge motors produce winds of more than 1,400 m.p.h.

The fire control system of a modern combat plane contains more than 70,000 solder connections.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO STATE PARKS

An ancient glacier that covered northern Ohio had much to do with making Clear Fork State Park a popular recreational area for picnickers, hikers, campers and fishermen.

This 500-acre park, nestled among the wooded foothills of the Appalachian Mountains that rise out of the rolling plains of central Ohio near Loudenville on State Route 97, was formerly known as the Mohican State Park.

After the retreat of the great ice sheet, two streams, one flowing east and the other west, had their headwaters on a narrow plateau in Ashland County. Later another advancing glacier dammed the western stream, backing up water until it cut through the divide to form the Clear Fork gorge that delights so many visitors today. This stream, a tributary of the Mohican River, is the major feature of the Clear Fork State Park. Along the stream are interesting hiking trails and picnic facilities. Fishermen by the thousand try their luck as they wade this clear rushing water. And tent campers in growing number use the facilities of this State Park.

Two of the most important Indian highways of the Ohio Country crossed within the limits of this Park. The Great Trail from Fort Pitt to Detroit and the Cuyahoga War Trail were paths of history through the Clear Fork State Park. Major Robert Rogers traveled this route on his way back from Detroit with his famous rangers. Appleseed Johnny (John Chapman) was frequently seen in this area as he visited his apple orchards.

Upstream a few miles from the Clear Fork State Park is Pleasant Hill Lake, one of the ten blue water lakes of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District and the 1200-acre Mohican State Forest is a neighboring tourist attraction of considerable popularity.

Says Seaway Hampered By Sectionalism

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of an organization promoting St. Lawrence seaway commerce said today that "a multiplicity" of groups are hampering Great Lakes port development.

Dr. N. R. Danielian of Detroit, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn., in testimony prepared for a U. S. Senate subcommittee, said "Sectionalism has come to bedevil the Great Lakes area, setting one community against the other."

Dr. Danielian is one of eight organization representatives invited to testify at a two-day hearing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's subcommittee on the Great Lakes, headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

The subcommittee is gathering views on proposed legislation which would give Congressional consent for a compact among the eight states and two Canadian provinces bordering the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River to deal with matters of common concern.

Dr. Danielian told the subcommittee that his association headed up coordinated efforts to smooth the way for actual construction of the seaway and deepening of channels connecting the Great Lakes.

"Since the beginning of the work on the St. Lawrence project," Danielian said, "there has been evidence a centrifugal force as a result of which there has occured a mutiplication of organizations professing interest in the same things, but going in many directions, and duplicating effort."

He said "This is true in the federal establishments as well as among states, municipalities and industrial interests around the Great Lakes area."

The states and provinces involved in the proposed compact are Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Ontario and Quebec.

Sift Six Tons Of Garbage For Cash

NEW YORK (AP)—Three sympathetic garbage collectors dumped two tons of refuse into a Bronx street just so a worried woman could recover $530.

Mrs. Rosalie Mirabel, 32, operator of a stationery store, ran down the street and halted the refuse truck after recalling she had absent-mindedly placed an envelope with the money in her garbage can.

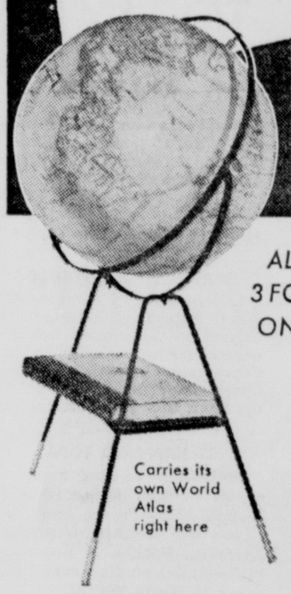

The three men emptied the truck and spent 30 minutes sifting through the garbage before they found the money.

The woman gave the three a $5 reward.

FREE PRESS BULWARK

AMERICANS have a bad habit of taking their unparalleled freedoms for granted. Nowhere else in the world can a human being exercise as much choice in buying, reading, associating, joining, criticizing, traveling, speaking or type of work as in this nation. Perhaps the main reason this Republic has been able to not only maintain, but strengthen, the freedoms inherited from its founders is freedom of the press.

Freedom of the press is really the hub of our basic freedoms, without which the others could not survive. It is a simple matter of record that the first force a dictator must capture is the press, for with it free his climb to power would never start.

Throughout the world today there are many examples of dictatorships of one kind or another, but in each case there is one outstanding similarity: The government owns and operates or dictates the policy of the newspapers. One need not look past the communist world for evidences of this suppression. There is not one free, privately owned newspaper anywhere behind the iron curtain.

But the Soviet Union and her satellites are not the only countries where freedom of expression is a crime. India, the greatly overrated "neutral," is a prime example of the rapidity with which freedom deteriorates in a country which allows suppression of the press. The newspaper industry of that state is so regulated that it is no more than a subsidiary of the government. At this moment there is a bill being pushed through the Indian parliament which would control the price a paper may charge a subscriber and an advertiser, the quantity of advertising a paper may carry, the size of the newspaper and even the elimination of such entertainment items as crossword puzzles.

It is to the eternal credit of the American newspaper industry that it has no firmly entrenched itself in a tradition of honesty and conscientious objectivity that even the boldest radical dare not attack it. Americans may well be proud of their newspapers for the great forum of expression they provide.

CHANGES IN ORATORY

WHAT MIGHT be termed the age of oratory has passed. It went out with the lyceum and the chautauqua. Platform speakers who held their audiences with the charm of words and neat phrasing, who said little to be remembered but said it with a technique which came from long practice, no longer are abroad in the land, available at so much per night.

Bryan, Cadman, Sam Jones, Billy Sunday and scores of others gave America a deluge of oratory which made most of them wealthy men.

In their place has come a new generation, equally effective but with different qualifications. Radio and TV have been responsible. Broadcasting makes certain demands upon the human voice. The microphone magnifies all the faults of diction.

Taken as a whole, the change has been for the better.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

There is extraordinary excitement over the report that Soviet Russia will produce 1,200,000 trained engineers and scientists during the present decade compared with 900,000 to be "turned out" in this country.

The phrase, "turned out" is particularly applicable because that precisely is what is being done in so many schools which pretend to educate men and women. These are really vocational schools rather than colleges or universities and the men who come out of them may have learned a trade but they have not been nurtured by the long line of human culture.

It does not seem to me that the difference in numbers is really important but that the intellectual quality, the capacity for personal intiative, the freedom to make mistakes without fear of reprisal, and a social environment that produces contentment and happiness are what matter. If Soviet Russia can achieve such ends better than we can, its leadership in the world will be greater than ours; if we achieve such ends by education, our accomplishments will be greater.

Professor Benjamin H. Williams of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces says in "Social Science":

". . .When we consider that the future dominance in the world may be decided within the narrow fields of guided missiles and atomic bombs, the Russian power of concentration may turn out to be ominous to a nation that diffuses its activities over wide areas of products, including many luxury commodities and services."

This represents the fear psychology of those who relate themselves to military affairs. A nation that produced only guided missiles and atomic bombs, but no thinkers, no poets, no philosophers, no historians would soon be as barren as a desert. Many of the great civilizations of the world disappeared because they devoted themselves only to conquest and defense. The Uzbeks were once a great people and produced the philosopher, Avicenna, but the Uzbeks were involved in the interminable wars of Genghis Khan and his pages of history. Today, what is left of them, compose a minor republic of Soviet Russia, a weak and backward people held in abject slavery by the Soviet state.

Williams quotes Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission as saying:

"More than half of all Russian university graduates are in the science-mathematics fields; only one-fifth of our graduates are in those fields. Russian Ph.D.'s, or the equivalent, are three to one in favor of science and engineering; in the United States the ratio is just the reverse—nearly three doctorates in the humanities for every one in science and mathematics."

Precisely what does that prove? It only goes to show that a large number of intelligent young men and women in the United States have faith in the future of their country and their civilization and are preparing themselves to meet other problems than the manufacture of guided missiles and atom bombs.

Many of those to whom Strauss refers are preparing themselves in the social sciences which are as important as engineering if this country is to survive this period which Williams calls the Age of Peril. Many are linguists historians, musicians, artists, clergymen. Are we only to train for war?

It is claimed a party of Swedes discovered America 130 years before Columbus arrived, and reached what is now Minnesota. But Texas is still to be heard from.

Challenge For Dr. Mays

CHAPTER 33

STELLA continued quietly, earnestly, displaying no rancor, using no emphasis or inflection that would serve as commentary upon her experience. In the same objective fashion, she went on to mention that Dr. Wilkins-Smith had told her husband much the same thing when Stella had brought Newell around to talk to the doctor.

Dr. Gaskins glanced at the dark-haired young man on the window sill. Newell nodded. Then he said thoughtfully, "He knew that I worked for a newspaper. I believe that was an item—with him."

From halfway down the table there was a stifled roar. His lawyers no longer able to restrain him, Dr. Wilkins-Smith was on his feet, his face splotched with anger, his voice choking in his throat. He tried to speak, sputtered, tried again.

". . . certainly unethical," he shouted, his voice cracking. "A doctor—rig a case against a hospital—size—prestige—"

Chad glanced toward Stella as she sat down, looking distressed. Chad waited for Dr. Wilkins-Smith to fall silent again; the small, dark lawyer was tugging at his coat tail. Finally the doctor did sit down.

"It was unethical for a doctor," said Chad Mays then, calmly, "for me, to rig a case against a hospital and against another doctor. It sure was just that!" He stopped and looked at the ceiling. "Just about as unethical," he estimated, "as it was for you, Dr. Smith, to rig a case against us. You were waiting for Mrs. McCrillis, were you not?"

"I had never seen the woman before in my life." His contemptuous tone made Newell stiffen and half rise.

Chad waved his hand toward the reporter, who subsided. "You had given blanket orders, had you not, for all reports from the Clinic to be brought to your attention?"

"I had!"

"And when you found this case—tailored, you thought, to your purposes, even to the means for attaining full publicity—you took full advantage of it. In Stella McCrillis you thought you had a frightened young woman, someone you could manipulate to your own advantage, to the clinic's ruin. And were you ever wrong!"

"Dr. Mays," interrupted the Chairman, "did you send Mrs. McCrillis to the County Hospital?"

"As I indicated previously," Chad hedged suavely, "and as you know, too, being a member of the County Medical Society, we'd had reports from within his own hospital that Dr. Wilkins-Smith was—er—careless about substantiating some of his diagnoses. The Society decided against action or investigation.

"Well, I had previously talked the general situation over with Mr. McCrillis; I had told him that I hoped to find out what lay behind the County Hospital's opposition to us. He knew that I was waiting for a break, and when Stella's case offered such an opportunity he agreed that I should use it. Stella herself had almost no knowledge of what we had in mind. We told her it would help us if she'd take her neck through the Clinic, and then on to County Hospital; she was to accept no treatment until she'd talked to Newell. But—yes; certainly, it was a trap, and certainly it was unethical in the purest sense of the word.

"But may I mention that the way Dr. Wilkins-Smith fell into the trap indicates that he was traveling paths foreign to the tread of your normal and ethical doctor. He undoubtedly thought Stella's case was pre-cancerous—but didn't bother to check. Given a chance at newspaper coverage, he used it, and completely. He published our record in full—every one of the two hundred and twenty-two answers which Stella had written down, every finding of the doctors who had examined her—except that he had no idea of the actual histology performed. How he got that complete record is another question, and a very interesting one!" Chad's teeth flashed in a smile that was not humorous.

"Earlier he had given an interview to the press on the clinic in general. In his questions he asked how a forty-five minute check-up, one that was free, could possibly be thorough and good? To some people, those two hundred and twenty-two questions, and the various tests indicated in the stolen form, would imply a somewhat thorough examination. Though of course our examination is not entirely thorough. It is not meant to be. We explain that to each patient as he comes to us; we stress it in our publicity.

"As for being free, well, I'd wonder about that charge and the origin of its animosity if I didn't meet it every time I go about setting up a Screening Clinic. The people like it, the people are ready to accept this free service. But I've met a Dr. Wilkins-Smith . . ."

He spat forth the name contemptuously.

". . . every place I go." He stood thoughtful, then tilted his head to look at the enraged man across the table. "This one gets the leather medal, however," he mused.

"Doesn't the County Hospital," asked a voice down the table, "do a great amount of charity work?"

"I suppose it does, sir. Any tax-supported hospital would. Though if you pay your staff doctors by cases . . ." Chad coughed. "Besides," he went on, "our clinic is designed to reach all levels except those of pure charity. Indigents. Your Public Health service has to find and care for them. Does. We'd like to appeal to them—but we don't, too much."

"Public Health is concerned with all economic levels," said the Public Health man, somewhat stiffly.

"Sure," agreed Chad, "but let's confine the discussion to the service we offer, and to the people it actually reaches. Our clinic hopes to appeal to that large group of bill-paying folk who don't ask for charity, don't need it. A lot of them have hospitalization insurance. But whether they do or not, they pay their hospital bills when they get seriously sick, and our idea is not to let them get seriously sick if we can help it. A quick check-up at regular intervals will accomplish this—if we are permitted to give that sort of service. If we're not—the whole program collapses."

"Was it your idea, Doctor," asked the small, dark lawyer at Wilkins-Smith's side, "that we would, here and now, call off our suit, on the testimony of Mrs. McCrillis?"

Chad shook his head so that his hair tumbled from its smooth combing. "No, sir!" he said quickly. "One case doesn't prove a thing! It does, however, suggest a situation. A situation which we have therefore doublechecked." He leaned over to look more closely at Wilkins-Smith. "Haven't we, Doctor?" he asked gaily.

What You Find In Your Mail!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Odd facts a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That many highway accidents are probably caused by people who are slowly going blind and don't know it. The National Society For The Prevention Of Blindness estimates that fewer than half of the one million Americans suffering from glaucoma, a vision-destroying ailment, realize they have it.

That South Dakota doesn't require an eye test for driver's license applicants.

That Katzenellenbogan is the longest name in the current Manhattan phone directory. The man's an accountant, and anybody trying to forge his signature runs the risk of writer's cramp.

That the pretty lady whose portrait appears on some $100 Confederate bills was Lucy Holcombe Pickens, an ancestor of singer Jane Pickens.

That a grass cutter shaped like a golf club is now on the market for guys who want to practice their swings while mowing the lawn.

Why don't they build one shaped like an egg beater, too, so wives can join in the fun?

That while most of us spend our lives trying to understand economics, fewer than 5 per cent of U. S. high school graduates ever took a course in the subject.

That Saturday is a more dangerous day that Sunday for motoring. Last year Saturday accidents took 8,320 lives, Sunday 7,410. And will it make you more careful to know that three out of four accidents happen on dry roads in clear weather?

That U. S. miners dug nearly $66 million in gold from the ground in 1955—but the U. S. government kept nearly $22 billion in gold buried in a hole at Fort Knox.

That the first self-service "honor system" restaurant, the Exchange Buffet (the cashier took the customer's word for what he ate), opened here Sept. 4, 1885 . . . but no night club or bar has ever tried the system, so far as we know.

That the first trip across the United States by auto, completed Aug. 31, 1903, took 52 days. Thanks to traffic jams, it seems to take about the same time today to go across mid-town Manhattan.

That over the years Sammy Kaye spent more than $5,000 for the 10,000 batons he has given away on his "so you want to lead a band" contests.

That the average American farmer, who in 1900 raised enough food to supply six other persons, now according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture raises enough to feed 18 persons besides himself . . . Yeah, but how many of those 18 actually get most of their nourishment from drugstore pills?

That if you think caesarean births originated with Julius Caesar, you're wrong. While he is the most famous person ever delivered by this operation, it was known hundreds of years before Rome's greatest emperor was born. Six of every 100 babies today are caesarean deliveries.

Some people thought the Republicans laid it on a bit thick in nominating Richard M. Nixon. They praised him as everything but R.M.N.

Spirits were running high in San Francisco hotels, too, it is reported. One grand old party after another.

The Republicans had more of a parade than a political convention. However, one Nebraska elephant ran amok.

That Joe Smith, whoever he is, may be famous long after you have to think twice to remember anyone else at the 1956 Republican convention. After all, it's the first time an absentee was the star of a show.

A lot of people at the Democratic convention furnished Republican campaign material. It took someone who was not at the Republican convention to return the compliment.

Nixon will remember the 1956 Republican convention as the convention of his second nomination. Delegate Terry Carpenter of Nebraska will remember the 1956 convention as his last.

This may be the era of the common man, but you can't get nominated at a Republican convention if you're just Joe Smith. You've really got to be somebody.

He poked a bony finger into Twain's midriff and croaked, "Has it occurred to you that every time I draw a breath, some hapless soul passes into the great beyond." "It has," sighed Sam. "Why don't you try cloves?"

"You and your big cigars," fussed Mrs. Klupper. "Do you know what there is in a single cheroot? Acetic, formic, butyric, propionic and prussic acids; creosote, phenol, amonia, and of course, nicotine, viridine, and picoline."

"For goodness sake," marveled Mr. Klupper. "You mean to say I get all that for a dime?"

Prickly Heat In Babies

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

PRICKLY heat is a summertime menace for both adults and children. But babies seem especially susceptible.

If your baby has a really bad case of prickly heat, try bathing him several times a day with a specially prepared sponge bath. Sponge his whole body with a mixture of one quart of cool water and four teaspoonfuls of baking soda.

Don't Use Soap

As long as the rash of small raised spots exists, don't use any soap on that particular portion of his skin.

Calamine lotion or another mild lotion might prove beneficial. Baking soda, cornstarch or baby powder probably will help ease the itching. Be careful that the powder doesn't become caked in the creases of your tot's arms, legs and neck.

Dressing a baby properly in warm weather will help prevent the rash from developing in the first place. Perspiration, you see, is what causes prickly heat.

During extremely hot weather, your youngster should wear as little clothing as possible. Make sure that the clothes next to his skin are soft, lightweight linen or cotton.

Don't clamp a tight-fitting bonnet on a baby's head. This will only make him sweat. Before you know it, he'll have a bad case of prickly heat on his forehead.

Susceptible Areas

Some areas where the rash is likely to break out are a baby's face, chest, neck and shoulders. The bends of his elbows and his waist also seem to be particularly susceptible.

During hot weather I strongly advise you to change your baby's position in his crib frequently. This will expose most of his body to the air often enough to help prevent prickly heat.

WASHINGTON (AP)—When politicians — like former President Truman — promise repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act if the Democrats win this year, it's strictly pie-in-the-sky stuff. Labor leaders know better.

Although top AFL-CIO leaders Tuesday recomended that the big labor organization endorse the Democratic presidential ticket, one thing can be predicted with certainty: No matter which party wins this election — Democrats or Republicans — T-H will not be repealed.

T-H was passed by a Republican-run Congress, but with Democratic help, in 1947. Ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Democrats have promised repeal if elected.

And ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Republicans have promised changes in T. H. In spite of all the promises by both sides only one change, fairly small has been made.

The reason is simple enough; not enough members of Congress were willing to vote for repeal on either side. And labor leaders don't expect this election to produce enough congressional changes to bring about repeal, either.

As an example: Recently the AFL-CIO made a survey in the House of Representatives to find out the sentiment on repeal. They found only 183 members — combining Democrats and Republicans — who could be counted on to support repeal.

That was so far short of the majority needed in the 435-member House that no attempt was even made to find out the situation in the Senate.

That the labor leaders have no illusions in the way of big favors if the Democrats win, was expressed by George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

He said the Democrats' labor plank is better than the Republicans' and he agrees the Democratic plank gives the AFL-CIO even "more than we asked for." But he added:

The Democratic labor plank holds out more promises "than we'll probably get."

Why then did the AFL-CIO Executive Council vote 17-5 to recommend that its 15 million members back the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket? Meany's explanation:

1. Organized labor has more friends among Democrats than Republicans.

2. The labor leaders favoring endorsement argued it would weaken the cause of other Democratic candidates meaning those running for congressional, state and city offices friendly to labor if the AFL-CIO gave no formal support to the top of the ticket.

DiSalle Suggests Industrial Credit

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Michael V. DiSalle says the possible formation of a state development credit corporation would offer a means to attract more industry to the state.

Purpose of such a corporation, DiSalle said, would be to "help finance expansion of new and small businesses where the growth potential is substantial, but the risk is too great for one bank to assume by itself."

In a speech Tuesday night before a gathering of Washington County Democrats, DiSalle also cited technical assistance in organizing industrial development programs as one of the pressing needs of the state's communities.

Sokolsky's

It is too easy to make such phrases. We have passed through several ages of peril in our history. This one seems more terrible than any other only because we are now alive. Surely the people of the South must have felt that they lived in an Age of Peril when Sherman was marching to the sea, devastating as he moved, destroying everything in his path. Only now, nearly a century later, is the South recovering from that frightful experience, its Age of Peril. But the South is recovering; that is the moral of the tale.

All the world was frightened by the meaningless march of the one called Alexander the Great in Europe and Iskander in Asia. But what has become of his Macedonia. It is a partitioned land of peasants. Of Alexander, little more remains that is significant but the memory that his tutor was Aristotle, as great an intellect as ever lived.

These conquerors come and go and are readily forgotten even if they leave monuments of themselves all over the place. Stalin was down-graded by his successors, but most of these so-called great men are down-graded by the course of events which measures their achievements in perspective.

Carolina Traveling Legislator Dies

CRAMERTON, N.C. (AP)—George Holden Tinkham, a colorful Boson blueblood who mixed travels to faraway places with 28 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, is dead at 86.

Tinkham, whose chest-length beard, his jaunts to places not listed in the tourist guides and his violent opposition to prohibition made him a figure in Congress, died Tuesday in his sleep at the home of a sister here. He had not been ill.

A Mayflower descendant, Tinkham, a Republican, served the 10th Massachusetts Congressional District from 1915 to 1943 when he retired at 72.

Tests show that a flying wasp makes 110 wing strokes a second.

Two Die In Crash

MARYSVILLE (AP)—Russell Alexander, 46, of Richmond, Ind., and his wife, Louise, 35, were killed Tuesday when their car collided headon with a truck and trailer on U. S. 42, about a half-mile north of nearby New California.

The custom of funeral sermons is traced back to the primitive peoples of antiquity, who had certain ceremonies in connection with burial of the dead.

Pittsburgh Win Reduces Margin For Milwaukee

Brooks Split Twin Bill, Now Trail By Game And A Half

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Are Dale Long and the rest of Pittsburgh's short-lived heroes to become Milwaukee's pennant-block, just as the Pirates were to Brooklyn in 1954?

Brooklyn had edged to within a half game of first place in '54 and looked good and healthy with 10 games remaining against Pittsburgh in the last month and a half of the season. But the last place Pirates, who had lost 10 of their first 12 games with the Brooks, won five of those last 10, standing the Dodgers on end while the New York Giants copped the flag and the world championship.

The Pirates, who lost 12 of their first 18 games with Milwaukee this season, looked like the spoilers of old Tuesday night, coming from behind as Long hit a three-run homer to beat the Braves 5-4 and trim their National League lead to 1½ games over the Dodgers.

And except for the fact Brooklyn was playing a doubleheader in the only major league park without lights, the Dodgers might have been only a half game shy of the Braves today. The Brooks split the twinbill with Chicago's Cubs, winning the opener 6-4 on three ninth-inning runs, but losing the nightcap 4-3 when play was halted after 7½ innings by darkness.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle belted his 45th home run in New York's 4-0 victory over Kansas City in a game held to six innings by rain. The Yankees regained an eight game first place bulge as Cleveland lost at Baltimore 1-0. Chicago's White Sox split a pair with Washington, winning 5-3 after a 6-2 defeat. Detroit defeated Boston 6-3.

Long's poke triggered a four-run seventh that tied the score for the Bucs after Warren Spahn, seeking his 199th major league victory, had retired two men in the frame. Five straight hits set things up for the Pirates against the veteran southpaw. Dick Groat's infield single scored the clincher against rookie Bob Trowbridge in the eighth.

Elroy Face won it in relief of Dick Hall, who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 31st and 32nd home runs.

Don Newcombe, working in relief for only the second time this season, won his 21st for the Brooks in the opener as Carl Furillo popped a fly that fell for a two-run single and broke a 3-all tie in the ninth. In the nightcap, Gene Baker's 11th home run and a bases-loaded walk by reliefer Ed Roebuck broke up a tie game in the seventh for the Cubs. Duke Snider, sidelined by a knee injury, pinch-hit his 36th home run.

There were 13 home runs in the National League Tuesday and Frank Robinson's second of the night for Cincinnati was the 1,000th of the season. Long's was 1,001—still 262 shy of the major league record the NL set last season.

The Cincinnati rookie slammed two, his 33rd and 34th, while Ed Bailey added his 23rd to account for seven runs as the Redlegs routed the New York Giants 11-1.

In the other National League game, Philadelphia dumped St. Louis 6-4.

Pitcher Stars In Colt League Finale

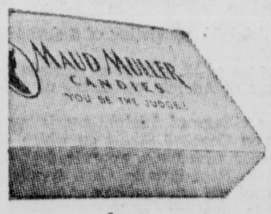

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league scouts are keeping a sharp eye on Jim Woods, a 16-year-old right-hander who pitched and batted Evanston, Ill., to the National Colt League World Series championship Tuesday at Comiskey Park.

Woods limited Austin, Tex., to three hits in a 5-1 victory. He also drove in a run on a sacrifice fly and hit a 370-foot homer into the left field stands.

Columbus Wins

TOLEDO (AP) — The Columbus Bart's Bars captured the ASA Ohio softball championship here Tuesday night by edging the Dayton Parkmoor Drive-ins 2 to 1 in the finals.

Tag New Lightweight Champ As 'Fighter Of The Month'

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Brown of New Orleans, who outpointed Wallace (Bud) Smith the light weight championship Friday night, was named "Fighter of Month" today in the latest rankings by Ring Magazine.

Rated eighth in his division a month ago, Brown was elevated to the top spot while Smith fell to third place. Smith has lost four fights this year.

Duilio Lloi of Italy held onto the challenger's role in the 135-pound class while Cisco Andrade retained the No. 2 position.

The only other prominent changes came in the bantamweight division as the result of the retirement of former champion Robert Cohen. Each of the fighters below him—from fourth to tenth—advanced a notch and the No. 10 place was taken over by a newcomer, German Ohm of Mexico, who has lost only one fight in two years.

In the heavyweight class, Willie Pastrano of New Orleans replaced Bob Baker as the No. 4 contender through his victory over Pat McMurtry, a Tacoma, Wash., heavyweight who had been unbeaten.

Eddie Machen, improving Redding, Calif., heavyweight, jumped from eighth to sixth on the strength of his knockout of Walter Hafer.

The latest Ring Magazine rating:

Light heavyweight: Champion, Archie Moore. 1. Gerhard Hecht, Germany; 2. Yolande Pompey, Trinidad.

Middleweight: Champion, Ray Robinson. 1. Gene Fullmer, West Jordan, Utah; 2. Bobby Boyd, Chicago.

Welterweight: Champion, Johnny Saxton, Brooklyn, N. Y. 1. Carmen Basilio, Syracuse, N. Y.; 2. Tony DeMarco, Boston.

Lightweight: Champion, Joe Brown, New Orleans. 1. Duilio Loi, Italy; 2. Cisco Andrade, Compton, Calif.

Featherweight: Champion, Sandy Saddler, New York. 1. Hogan (Kid) Bassey, Nigeria; 2. Fred Galiana, Spain.

Bantamweight: Champion, Mario D'Agata, Italy. 1. Raton Macias, Mexico; 2. Billy Peacock, Los Angeles.

Flyweight: Champion, Pascual Perez, Argentina. 1. Memo Diez, Mexico; 2. Dai Dower, Wales.

Cincinnati Joins New Loop; Better Competition Foreseen

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Valley Conference voted unanimously Tuesday to admit Cincinnati and North Texas State as new members.

Basketball coaches of the two schools joined the league's other coaches here today and began drafting the 1957 - 58 basketball schedules.

Art Eilers, conference commissioner, said Cincinnati and North Texas will begin Missouri Valley Competition in the 1957 spring sports.

The two schools will strengthen the league's football situation, but they are not expected to find places on the schedule until 1958 or 1959. By that time there should be eight football members in the conference—Houston, Tulsa, Oklahoma A&M, Wichita, Drake, Bradley, Cincinnati and North Texas.

St. Louis University doesn't play football and Detroit University is leaving the conference after this season.

An athletics spokesman for the University of Cincinnati said joining the Missouri Valley Conference is "a step toward something better."

Bill Schwarberg, assistant football coach, said UC has been seeking some affiliation since it left the Mid-American Conference after the 1952 season.

Schwarberg said one of the main reasons UC left the Mid-American Conference it helped form was that "the conference wanted UC to play everybody in the conference."

"Several of the teams were not able to give UC too much competition. I think the general public and the fans thought that we could get a better schedule."

The coach said UC had won the Mid-American football championship every year except one while in the conference, which started in 1946.

Ohio Girl Tennis Star Moves Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eighth seeded Carolyn Wikoff of Middletown, O., moved into the fourth round of the 39th U. S. girls lawn tennis championship today after a third round victory Tuesday over Elaine Hixon of Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 6-3.

In other play Tuesday Judy Hagan, also of Middletown, lost to Albertina Rodi of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-1, 6-1.

West Virginia's football schedule for 1957 shows four Southern Conference, four eastern and two Atlantic Coast Conference opponents. Boston U., Virginia Tech, Virginia and Wake Forest will be new.

Robinson Raps Two Homers In Cincy Rout

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Robinson, who looks like a good bet for rookie of the year honors, has far exceeded the expectations of Cincinnati Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

The powerful young outfielder slashed out his 33rd and 34th home runs of the season Tuesday night—tops for the Redlegs thus far—and accounted for four runs with them in Cincinnati's 11-1 triumph over New York.

When the season started, Tebbetts said he hoped to bring Robinson along gradually and would be satisfied "if he hits 15 homers this year."

The outfielder's hitting success Tuesday night was part of a general batting spree by the Redlegs, who pounded 14 hits off four Giant hurlers, including a three-run homer by Ed Bailey in the thir

Robinson was in on both ends of the scoring, smacking his first homer for the first two runs in the opening inning and his last four-base belt ending scoring in the seventh.

Nuxhall went all the way for the Redlegs, but he had plenty of problems in early innings. He filled the bases in the second, third and fourth innings, but managed to squelch the rallies each tim

The only Giant tally came early in the third when Jackie Brandt tripled Red Schoendienst home.

It was an attendance milestone for the Redlegs, whose 11,632 fans broke the all-time record for attendance at home games. It set the attendance so far at 983,590, compared to the previous record high of 981,443, reached in 1939.

Robinson Still Shies From Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Boxing Club and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson were no closer today on agreement of a title match with Gene Fullmer under sponsorship of the IBC.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the IBC, said early today "we t nowhere but that doesn't mean it's out."

Gibson said the IBC had offered Robinson a fight in Chicago with home television but that Joe Glaser, Robinson's business manager, reported that the champ is cool toward a fight in Chicago.

Rifle Shoot Opens

CAMP PERRY (AP)—The wee long national high power rifle championships open here today with a field of 1,400 shooters, the biggest since World War II. Two divisions—Service rifle and match rifle—are included.

Circleville Gridders Hold First Practice Tilt With Aquinas Team

Circleville High School footballers received their first taste of gridiron combat under game conditions Tuesday morning when they met Columbus Aquinas in a practice session at the local high school field.

No official score was recorded on the scrimmage game. However, the Tigers, showing good offensive form at times, racked up four touchdowns while limiting Aquinas to only two TD's.

CHS coach Steve Brudzinski said the practice was held mainly to give local gridders experience in playing as a team under conditions similar to regular season games.

Aquinas, starting fast, moved all the way from their own 20 yard line to score the first time they had the ball. At first the Tigers encountered some difficulty in getting their offense rolling but managed to knot the score a few moments later.

* * *

THE OUTstanding play of the game for the locals was a Banks-to-Hosler pass good for 45 yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Banks completed several more passes for sizable gains during the contest.

Brudzinski stated he was pleased with the Tiger's showing, but added that the team as a whole is far from being a smooth running outfit. The CHS gridders held their first team practice only a little over a week ago.

After observing yesterday's practice session, the coach explained that the boys need more body contact work and practice in perfecting plays.

The CHS 1956 gridiron edition is not as big as last year's squad in the weight department. But the local coaching staff expressed hope that speed on the part of this year's team would offset the weight disadvantage.

Another practice game is scheduled with Logan Friday at 7 p. m. The contest will be played on the Circleville field under the lights.

Steelers Try To Sharpen Up Their Attack

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, losers in both National Football League exhibitions this year, are aiming to sharpen up their offense.

And the key to the problem, according to Coach Walt Kiesling, is finding a replacement for quarterback Jimmy Finks, who quit the pro league for an assistant coaching job at Notre Dame.

The Steelers resumed practice today and Kiesling shook up his offensive team in an effort to decide who will be his No. 1 quarterback.

The Steelers don't play again until Sept. 8 when they meet the Chicago Bears at Pittsburgh. By that time, Kiesling hopes to have made his choice among Ted Marchibroda, Jack Scarbath and Maurice Duncan.

Marchibroda was with the Steelers last season but sat it out while Finks held the spotlight.

Scarbath, former star at Maryland University, was with Ottawa in the Canadian League last season. Prior to that he played with the Washington Redskins.

Kiesling told sports writers in Pittsburgh Tuesday he's trying to sharpen up his offense. It has been woefully weak as the Steelers lost 37-16 to the Baltimore Colts and 20-15 to the Detroit Lions.

California Youth Signed By Giants To Bonus Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Francis McCormick, star 18-year-old left-handed pitcher from Bakersfield, Calif., has been signed by the New York Giants to a bonus contract, reputedly for more than $50,000.

McCormick, 6 feet 2 and 185 pounds, pitched two no-hitters in winning 12 games and losing none at Makell High School in Arcadia, Calif., this spring. He added three more no-hitters to the list in American Legion junior baseball competition, and then in the Hearst newspapers sandlot tournament struck out all 15 boys who faced him.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, in announcing the signing, said McCormick would report to the team Friday. As a bonus player, McCormick must remain with the Giants for two years before he can be farmed out.

Every major league club was after the young Californian.

Six National League players in 1955 hit more home runs than Mickey Mantle who won the American League homer crown with 37.

Hank Aguirre's Balk Brings Indian Defeat

BALTIMORE (AP)—A first inning balk by Hank Aguirre, young Cleveland Indians southpaw, gave the Baltimore Orioles a 1-0 victory over the Tribe Tuesday night.

Aguirre and Baltimore's Ray Moore allowed only four hits apiece, but Aguirre's balk did the damage.

It sent Bob Boyd, who had singled, to second base, and he scored on a two-out double by Bob Nieman, a grounder that bounced off third base.

Aguirre then balked again, sending Nieman to third, but Gus Triandos flied out to end the inning.

Moore pitched to only 30 batters. Only five got to first base, and none got to second.

Aguirre walked only two and Herb Score, who pitched the eighth inning, walked one. Besides the two hits in the first inning, Aguirre limited the Orioles to a single by George Kell in the fourth and a single by Triandos in the seventh.

It was the fourth 1-0 shutout against the Indians this season, and dropped them eight games behind the New York Yankees.

Ex-Lions Gridder Gets Divorced

DETROIT (AP) — Les Bingaman, former middle guard on the Detroit Lions professional football club, was divorced Tuesday by his wife, Lois.

Mrs. Bingaman charged that her 340-pound husband beat her, neglected her and made her feel unwanted. She charged mental and physical cruelty.

Baltimore Colts Release Two Men

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have placed halfback Gene Hendrix and center Jack Taylor on waivers, reducing the roster to 49 players.

Hendrix, from Drake University, and Taylor, from Austin College, Tex., both had the same failing—lack of speed for the pro game.

Redlegs Planning Appreciation To Fans Day Sunday

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, expecting to pass the million mark in attendance some time this week, will observe "Appreciation to the Fans Day" at Crosley Field next Sunday. The ball club never has played to a million fans.

Gabe Paul, general manager, said that five fully equipped automobiles will be given to the five fans who come closest to guessing the attendance at Sunday's contest with the Chicago Cubs. Presentation will be made at the home plate immediately following the game.

"Our paid attendance now is 972,960," Paul said, "and we expect to pick up the remaining 27,040 to reach the million mark for the first time in history in the three games with the Cubs."

The old mark for attendance is 981,443, and was set in 1939 when Cincinnati won the pennant.

The automobiles will be given "in recognition of the wonderful support we have received from fans of this area," Paul said in announcing Sunday's program.

In the event of any ties in the guesses, which must be turned in by the end of the second inning, the winners will be determined by baseball quiz, Paul said.

Rory Calhoun Risks Gloves Chain Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Unbeaten Rory Calhoun of New York and Spider Webb of Chicago clash in a 10-round middleweight bout at Chicago Stadium tonight.

Calhoun, 22-year - old former dishwasher who will be seeking his 24th straight victory, was an early 9-5 favorite.

Rory has scored 12 knockouts and recently defeated Charlie Cotton in 10 rounds at New York. Before meeting Cotton, Calhoun stopped Willie Vaughn in eight rounds at New York.

Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said the five point scoring system will be introduced in tonight's fight. Heretofore, the 10 point system had been used. The winner now gets five points and the loser four or less.

Webb, 24-year-old former national collegiate champion from Idaho State, is unimpressed over the fact Calhoun has been made the favorite.

Webb recently took a 10-round decision from Holly Mims and before going into the service he scored a six-round knockout over Chicago's Bobby Boyd, now one of the leading middleweight contenders.

Police Chief Tells Motorists To Keep Eye On Farm Vehicles

Merriman Hits 'Loophole' In Traffic Rules

Says Drivers Must Take Special Care At Harvest Time

Police Chief Elmer Merriman reminded motorists today that this is the time of year when farm vehicles are often involved in serious traffic accidents, especially on the highways outside the city.

"In the city we don't have too much trouble with the farmers driving their equipment, but on the rural roads such vehicles are a real menace unless motorists use extra precautions and stay alert," the chief said. The chief reason for this, he added, is because the drivers of farm vehicles are not obliged to follow the same rules as a motorist.

"State laws are tight on the automobiles, but they mean little or nothing as far as the farm vehicles are concerned," Merriman said. "Even in Circleville we don't have laws to restrict their use." The chief has been a long time critic of this loophole in traffic regulations.

For example, he pointed out that all passenger cars pulling trailers of any kind or size are required by law to have stay-chains as an added protective measure in case the trailers break loose from the hitch. "But there is no law stating that farm vehicles have to use such a safety precaution," Merriman said.

* * *

EACH YEAR many accidents happen because motorists overtake slower moving farm vehicles on the highway long before they expect to reach them.

The chief suggested that drivers should always be aware of this danger, especially at this time of year, in order to avoid such collisions.

Merriman also said "it's about time somebody emphasized to the average motorist that you find different problems when you drive on the turnpikes, expressways and other superhighways." Speeds permitted on these limited access roads, he explained, are higher than those allowed on the average public road—and drivers have to be extra alert accordingly.

"Across the northern end of the state and all around us they're whizzing along on superhighways these days," Merriman said. "And a lot of our local residents will be driving on these excellent roads in the course of their late-Summer vacations.

"Consequently, they should be prepared to drive a little different from the way they might drive around the county now. You get in fast company when you drive out on the superhighways, and you have to know what it's all about.

"After all, it's perfectly true that 'slow poke' drivers cause accidents too. You have to keep reasonable speeds."

Ohioan, Victim Of Far East Attack, Returning Home

TOKYO (AP) —The flag-draped casket of a U.S. airman, killed when a Navy patrol plane was shot down off Red China's coast last Thursday, left for home Tuesday by special plane.

Six white-clad sailors carried the coffin of Aviation Electronics Technician Albert P. Mattin of Delta, O., to the waiting C124 Globemaster transport plane.

Mattin's widow and three small sons, along with the wives and 10 children of five other crew members still listed as missing, were to follow in another plane early Wednesday.

Of the 16 men aboard the P4M Mercator, only Mattin's fate is definitely known. His body and bits of wreckage were found a day later in the Pacific about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai. The other 15 are listed as missing.

Says 'Fast Buck' Promoters Push Weird Jimmy Dean Cult

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The director who made Jimmy Dean's last picture accuses "fast buck promoters" of sparking a weird, morbid cult for the dead actor.

Newsstands lately have been flooded with articles, even entire magazines, devoted to such morbid topics as "Jimmy Dean Speaks From Beyond;" "Why Jimmy Dean Knew He Was Going To Die;" or "Why Jimmy Dean wanted to die."

George Stevens, who directed Dean in the upcoming "Giant," calls all of the stories ridiculous.

"Jimmy Dean lived every day for the future. He had no more premonition of death than you or I. These fast buck promoters, out to sell their magazines and souvenirs, won't let the poor fellow die in peace."

Many of the articles are accompanied by photos which Stevens said originally were intended as gag shots. One shows Dean beside an open coffin in a Fairmot, Ind., mortuary. Another is an autographed picture from Vampira, who did a ghoulish television act in introducing horror movies. She was a friend of Dean's and the picture shows her standing beside an open grave beckoning.

"The picture beside the coffin was made when Dean visited a high school chum in his home town. It was a gag picture that any young man might pose for on an impulse," says Stevens.

Stevens was a discoverer of Dean and knew him as well as anyone in Hollywood.

"His interest in speed, which ultimately killed him, was no more unusual than that of thousands of other young men who like to get behind the wheel of fast cars," he said. "He was in an accident. He was killed. It's as simple as that.

"Anyone who subscribes to this phony morbidity cult is doing an injustice to the memory of a great actor. I'm sure Jimmy would want to be judged solely on his talent and nothing else."

Probe Death At Veterans Center

DAYTON (AP) — The body of George Harvey, 60, a resident of the Veterans Administration Center here, was found Tuesday in underbrush behind the center's dining hall.

An autopsy showed that Harvey died of a skull fracture from a severe blow on the head. Montgomery County and federal agents are investigating.

Phony Check Ring Explored By Officers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Claude Garee, 34, formerly of Marysville, has pleaded innocent to a forgery charge as sheriff's deputies continued to check into activities of an alleged phony check ring.

Garee entered his plea before Judge Alan Schwarzwalder of the municipal court. He was bound over to the grand jury on a $25,000 bond.

Also pleading innocent to a forgery charge and waiving preliminary examination was Christine Kilfian, also formerly of Marysville. Her bond was set at $500.

Two Franklin County men have been arrested for questioning in connection with operation of a reputed forgery ring, but no charges have been filed, Deputy Clyde Mann reported.

Mann said an investigation is under way to determine whether Garee was connected with the ring.

The phony check ring, Mann said, is suspected of passing worthless checks in Findlay, Bowling Green, Toledo, Bellefontaine, Canton, Kenton, New Philadelphia, Newark, Massillon and Uhrichsville. He estimated the gang cashed $100,000 in bad checks.

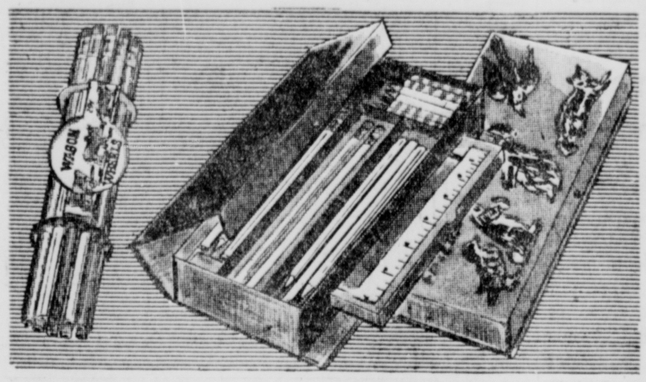

Garee was brought here from Perrysburg. He was arraigned there on a forgery charge and his bond was set at $5,000.

Cairo's Spy Charges Stir Fresh Unrest Over Canal

Picture Admitted Baby Slayer As A Psychological Problem

By SAUL PETT

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — She laughed a lot. She talked a great deal. She ate "constantly," and displayed a child's passion for ice cream and soda pop.

But beneath the pretense of chatty cheerfulness, there were telltale signs of a woman acutely embarrassed by her inordinate size, a lonely woman who seemed to have no life of her own and tried to enjoy vicariously the lives of her temporary employers.

This was the picture slowly emerging today of Virginia Jaspers, the six-foot, 220-pound baby nurse, who told police she shook three infants to death and injured two others in fits of "uncontrolable" temper.

While the big, blonde woman, herself still baby-faced at 33, remained in County Jail in lieu of $50,000 bond, authorities continued to investigate the strange case. There was much to investigate.

Coroner James J. Corriga said he would study the death certificates of every child under one year who died in the New Haven area since 1953. Miss Jasper has been known to care for newly born babies in private homes at least since 1948—possibly farther back than that.

But parents whose children were once cared for by Miss Jaspers, said they had no reason to suspect her ability or motives at the time. One was Mrs. Allen Hubbard, whose 13-day-old daughter died in 1948 while under Miss Jaspers' care.

Until Monday, Mrs. Hubbard knew only what her doctor had told her then—that the child died of a cerebral hemorrhage apparently caused by a congenital weakness. Monday, she learned of Miss Jaspers' statement to police—that the Hubbard child was one of three she shook with fatal results."

"Now I don't know what to think," Mrs. Hubbard said. "I have to admit that at the time she handled the baby well. We even had her for our second child.

"True, she was heavy-handed. When she burped the baby, she seemed a little strong. I remember we kidded her about it a few times but thought nothing serious about it.

"Apart from her handling of the baby, she seemed immature. She had this childish delight in eating, especially ice cream and soda. She was always, it seemed, taking pictures of the baby. Poor thing, she seemed to think she would never have a child of her own and lavished all her attention on ours."

Mrs. Hubbard, like other mothers who once employed the nurse, said that long after she left their homes Miss Jaspers frequently sent birthday gifts or cards to her child.

Mrs. John Flanagan, wife of a New Haven attorney, said they were so pleased with Miss Jaspers' care of their child last year they recommended her to friends. Mrs. Flanagan and Mrs. Hubbard agreed in their version of the nurse's continual chatter and cheerfulness.

Both mothers said that the nurse spent virtually all her off-duty hours either eating or conversing with their guests.

Sees Future For Private A-Industry

COLUMBUS (AP)—Both manpower and economic factors have caused the government to leave to private industry the development of full-scale atomic power plants, an official said today.

Louis H. Roddis, deputy director of reactor development for the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), said the government has handled early experimental phases of the work "because it was felt that only the government could bear the initial financial burden of research and experimentation."

But as for full-scale plants, he said in an address prepared for the Ohio Conference on Peacetime Uses of Nuclear Energy and Radiation Safety that economy of construction and operation is a major factor and "it is particularly important that we keep before the builders and operators the incentive to do an efficient and inexpensive job."

Congress fought at length this year over a Democratic proposal that the government itself build sample producing power plants of various kinds to help provide its power needs and to spur development of the reactors.

Roddis made no reference to defeat of that legislation in his prepared speech.

He expressed hope that in the next 10 or 15 years the country will have "a complete and self-sufficient nuclear industry free from major dependence upon government" not only for the plants themselves but for materials, components and services.

He renewed predictions that by 1970 the United States will have atomic generating capacity of 25 million kilowatts and that by 1975 another 55 million kilowatts capacity will be provided.

By that time, he said, much of the atomic power should be competitive in cost with normal power supplies.

Budget Report Sees Tax Cut Chances Slim

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new federal budget estimate, boosting the anticipated surplus to a modest 700 million dollars, today left little ground for hope of tax cuts in 1957.

One high administration source said the black ink was now foreseeable for fiscal 1957 "is still too narrow to justify any reduction."

The mid-year budget review, issued Tuesday night by Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey and Budget Director Percival F. Brundage, showed estimated revenues soaring to $69,800,000,000, up $4,300,000,000 from the government income forecast by President Eisenhower in his January budget message to Congress.

But it also showed federal spending amounting to a peacetime record of $69,100,000,000 in the year which started July 1.

That is four billion dollars beyond Eisenhower's spending estimate and absorbs most of the revenue gains arising from unparallelled national income and boom-level corporate profits.

The result is that the anticipated surplus, figured in January to be a little more than 400 million dollars, now is reckoned at 700 million dollars.

But that figure is much less than the fiscal 1956 surplus of $1,754,000,000 which the administration considered too small to justify tax cuts this year.

A year ago, the administration foresaw no such surplus, but instead a deficit of $1,700,000,000 for 1956. But business conditions turned out to be much better than they anticipated then.

CLEVELAND (AP)—Jess Soda, a pinball machine operator from Niles, filed suit in federal court Tuesday, trying to prevent the sale of 69 pinball machines seized by the government because his partner owed back income taxes.

Back To Work

WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower resumed his duties as chief of state today in a morning conference with Secretary of State Dulles.

Stevenson Seeks Farm Ideas In Conference In Sioux City

SIOUX CITY, Iowa (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said after his arrival here today for a conference with Democratic party leaders from seven midwest states that only the Democratic party is concerned with how the farmer is getting along.

The Democratic presidential candidate and Sen. Estes Kefauver, his vice presidential running mate, reached here after a 2,700 mile flight that started at Santa Fe, N. M., and included a political foray into the Pacific northwest.

Clayton Fritchey, Stevenson's press secretary, said it was believed to be a new record for a single day's campaigning. The Democratic standard bearer put in between 21 and 22 hours of traveling, handshaking and speaking.

Called into closed conference here were party leaders from Iowa, North and South Dakota, Kansas, Nebraska, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

It marked the third strategy huddle held by Stevenson and Kefauver in as many days.

Stevenson, in a statement issued after his arrival, started right in to woo farm votes.

"Historically," he said, "the American farmer has gotten into trouble when the Republicans were in the White House. And he has prospered under Democratic leadership."

Sen. Humphrey (D - Minn) and Gov. Orville Freeman of Minnesota were listed as co-chairmen of the conference at which Stevenson said he and Kefauver wanted to get suggestions on what they should do to help the farmer "when we get to Washington next January."

The Democratic standard bearers held a closed conference in Vancouver, Wash., late Tuesday with about 225 party leaders from Oregon, Washington, Montana, Idaho and Utah.

It was the second and their regional strategy huddles in a fast-moving tour to key areas. The first conference was held in Santa Fe, N. M., Monday.

Stevenson and Kefauver flew into Portland, Ore., to launch their foray into the Pacific northwest and immediately charged the Eisenhower administration with giving away precious natural resources to the favored few instead of developing them for all the people.

More Plotters In Riesel Case Held By FBI

Details Of Telvi's Role Outlined By Federal Attorney

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI today held racketeer Johnny Dio and three other hoodlums as plotters of the acid blinding of Victor Riesel, labor columnist.

Their motive was to intimidate Riesel from testifying on labor racketeering before a federal grand jury, said U. S. Atty. Paul W. Williams.

Williams said a "punk"—Abraham Telvi—was hired for $500 to hurl the acid and was slain after he demanded $50,000 for the job.

"When Telvi first was approached and got the job to throw the acid he thought it was a man named 'Marshall' and that it was only a husband and wife job, and worth only $500," Williams told newsmen.

"When Gondolfo Miranti, one of the accused conspirators, fingered Mr. Riesel, Telvi then knew who the victim was. He then went back and asked for more money.

"Telvi was just a punk and some of the co-conspirators . . . . said the job was worth $50,000 and they said Telvi had been used. Then Telvi sent word back to Dio, and Dio did give him more.

"Telvi was originally slated to get $500 but Johnny Dio sent him $1,500 in all, but some of it stuck to the hands of some of the co-conspirators who were to deliver the money."

* * *

RIESEL WAS blinded April 5 when acid was tossed in his face outside a Broadway restaurant. Telvi was found shot to death July 28 in an East Side street.

After the arrests Tuesday, Williams said:

"Johnny Dio, among others, was the man who directed, instigated and arranged the payoff to Telvi in the acid attack on Victor Riesel. This is in direct relation to Riesel's planned testimony about labor racketeering before the federal grand jury."

The dapper, 42-year-old Dio—whose actual name is John Dioguardi—was nabbed at his home on Point Lookout, Long Island, N. Y.

Picked up elsewhere were Thomas Dioguardi, 40, his brother and an executive in a cotton goods firm; Domenico Bando, 47, a Brooklyn baker; and Charles Tuso, 44, a garment worker. All have long criminal records.

A fifth man, Charles Carlino, 43, also was charged Tuesday with conspiracy. He was arrested Aug.

Alabama Approves Segregation Laws

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Alabama voters have approved a constitutional amendment to keep Negroes and whites in separate schools even at the cost of abolishing the public educational system.

The measure allows the state legislature to end public educational facilities and give public funds to private schools.

It, and a similar amendment covering public park facilities which also apparently passed, are designed to provide a bypass of the Supreme Court's decisions outlawing segregation in schools and recreational facilities.

Counties with heavy Negro populations went overwhelmingly for the two racial measures. Those with few Negroes generally opposed them.

Job Plea Rejected, He Turns Bandit

CINCINNATI (AP) — A man who said he was looking for work turned into a holdup man Tuesday after his plea for a job was turned down in a restaurant in suburban Plainville.

Police said David Poole, 20, of Branch Hill, charged with robbery, surrendered to authorities in Seymour, Ind.

Investigators said a waitress, Miss Patricia Clem, 16, told them that after asking about a job, Poole choked her into unconsciousness and took $10 to $20 from the cash register.

Union Leaders Vote To Cast Lot With Dem Campaigners

FOREST PARK, Pa. (AP)—AFL-CIO leaders, having decided to cast their lot with the Democrats in the coming election, turned today to planning how they can help defeat President Eisenhower.

The powerful AFL-CIO executive council wound up a long, closed door argument by voting to recommend formal support for the Democratic ticket of Adlai Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee against Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

The decision was reached late Tuesday with some misgivings. Some council members felt their 15 million member labor organization would be sticking its neck out and cutting itself off from any chance for favors from the Republican party.

But the council, reportedly against the advice of AFL-CIO President George Meany, voted 14-8 to make an endorsement and then cast that endorsement by a 17-5 count to the Democrats.

The decision was steered by a solid bloc of leaders of former CIO unions sparked by former CIO Chief Walter Reuther. He had been instrumental at the Democratic convention in getting Stevenson nominated.

* * *

REUTHER'S CLIQUE persuaded a sprinkling of former AFL union locals to go along, while eight leaders of former AFL unions opposed any endorsement.

Meany and Secretary-Treasurer William Schnitzler abstained from voting. Four other members of the council were absent.

The AFL-CIO leaders today called a meeting of their political operating arm, the Committee on Political Education, to discuss plans for marshaling votes for the Democratic Stevenson-Kefauver combination and for labor-endorsed candidates for Congress and key state offices.

No formal endorsements for the congressional and state races were to be announced, but the union leaders planned to go over the records of rival candidates and lay the basis for picking and choosing among contenders in major contests.

The 28-man AFL-CIO Council actually voted only to recommend a Stevenson-Kefauver endorsement to a meeting of heads of all 140 AFL-CIO unions in Chicago Sept. 12.

But Meany conceded this will only be a formality and said he hadn't "the slightest doubt" the larger group will concur.

IN VANCOUVER, Wash., where Stevenson and Kefauver met with political leaders Tuesday, Stevenson was described by his press secretary as "delighted" at the news.

There was no immediate comment from the White House on behalf of Eisenhower.

However, in Washington, Vice President Nixon issued a statement saying he is "confident" that "American workers will support the Eisenhower administration despite the executive council's action.

Nixon added that "we recognize the right of the AFL-CIO leaders to take a personal stand on candidates and issues" but he felt sure "the leaders or organized labor do not intend to try to bind their members or dictate to them how they should think or vote."

Meany, declining to say how he felt about it all, pledged to support the decision wholeheartedly. But he declined to predict any Democratic victory in November, saying "I'm no prophet."

Meany had counseled for many months that the newly merged AFL-CIO steer clear of tying itself to any political party, saying he couldn't see much basic difference between the two major parties anyway.

In announcing the Democratic endorsement, however, Meany said the big labor organization was only exercising an American privilege to make a political choice.

Jersey Chief Seen Charmed By Ohio Girl

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—Robert B. Meyner, the bachelor governor of New Jersey, has left newsmen with the impression he's definitely interested in the young lady he's currently dating—Helen Stevenson.

The 48-year-old governor enjoyed himself at a press conference Tuesday fielding questions tossed his way about the tall, 28-year-old brunette.

In the past he has sometimes answered impatiently when state house correspondents pressed him about his private life, usually saying simply he had "no comment."

Meyner dated Margaret Truman before her marriage last spring, for example, but always insisted "we're good friends."

He laughed heartily when the subject turned to Miss Stevenson at Tuesday's session and his eyes danced from one questioner to another.

"Are you planning to see her again?" one newsman asked.

"Foolish question," Meyner chortled.

Miss Stevenson's father is President William Stevenson of Oberlin College in Ohio. Among the things she and Meyner share in common is a liking for Democratic presidential candidate Adlai Stevenson, a distant cousin of hers.

Meyner escorted Miss Stevenson to a summer stock production of the Broadway musical comedy "Plain and Fancy" at Neptune on Monday night.

London Suggests Nasser Trying Propaganda

Still No Word From Egyptian President About Conference

LONDON (AP)—Egypt pushed a fresh anti-British campaign today amid suspicion in London that President Nasser is adopting a new tack in the Suez Canal dispute.

British newspapers and officials generally linked Egypt's expulsion of two British diplomats on spy charges—denied by Prime Minister Eden's government—with the controversy over the Egyptian President's nationalization of the vital waterway.

The British press speculated that Nasser had set off the spy charges to counter any thought among his people that he is backing down in the canal dispute by agreeing to see the five-nation Suez Canal committee headed by Australia's Prime minister Robert G. Menzies.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard said the Egyptian government, whatever its motive, has created "a grave new situation bound to prejudice negotiations about the future of the canal."

The Menzies committee waited anxiously for the Egyptian leader to fix a time and place to hear their arguments in favor of putting the canal under international control. Nasser agreed Tuesday to get together with the group but did not suggest details of the meeting.

Menzies rushed another message to Cairo suggesting talks later this week in the Egyptian capital.

BRITONS WERE angered at the spy charges from Nasser's government, coming at a time when other nations were concentrating on a peaceful settlement of the canal issue.

Egypt charged that two secretaries in the British embassy in Cairo—Visa Officer James Gove and Commercial Attache John Flux—were the "contacts" for two British civilians arrested early this week on espionage charges.

The British Foreign Office denied the charges but said it had no choice but to recall the two diplomats. Sir Humphrey Trevelyan, British ambassador in Cairo, immediately made a strong protest.

Sharp retaliatory action was expected from Britain. Prime Minis-

Today's World News In Brief

Japanese Accuse Dulles Of Threat

TOKYO (AP)—Some Japanese officials and newspapers today accused Secretary of State Dulles of threatening to take over Okinawa if Japan gives Russia the southern Kurile Islands of Kunashiri and Etorofu.

Others said he was trying to help the Japanese in their peace treaty negotiations with the Russians.

Dulles told his prrss conference in Washington Tuesday he had "reminded" the Japanese government and Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu that nations which have signed the San Francisco peace treaty could make new claims on Japan should Russia gain more than the San Francisco signers did.

Such additional claims are provided for in a clause of the San Francisco treaty. Dulles said he "merely reminded the Japanese of the existence of that clause. I did not attempt to indicate what its operation would be or that in fact it would be invoked."

The United States currently occupies Okinawa as a military base but recognizes Japan's residual sovereignty over the island.

The Soviet-Japanese treaty negotiations have been deadlocked for months over Russia's refusal to return the two Kurile islands closest to Japan, occupied by the Russians after World War II.

ALGIERS (AP) — The French claimed their troops killed at least 13 rebels Tuesday in scattered clashes in Algeria.

Nationalist grenade attacks on cafes, a train derailment and an attack on an Algiers police box took the lives of 3 persons and wounded 29 others.

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Burmese officials say Chou En - Lai Communist Chinese premier-foreign minister, is coming to Rangoon in December to discuss the dispute over the poorly defined Burma-China border.

Prison Slaying To Be Given Jury

COLUMBUS (AP) — Investigators today planned to take the facts of an Ohio penitentiary slaying direct to the Franklin County grand jury's September session.

Both Capt. F. C. Moon, head of the state highway patrol's investigation division, and officials of the county prosecutor's office, said they planned to ask for a first degree murder indictment against Glenn Smith, 23.

Smith, of Springfield, is accused of slaying James Nichols, 33, also of Springfield, in the prison yard last Monday. Nichols died after being hit over the head with a hammer.

State Fair Nears Attendance Mark For Entire '55 Event

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—With visitors coming through the gates at a record rate every day, the 1956 Ohio State Fair in its first five days was estimated to be approaching the attendance figure for the entire eight-day fair last year.

With another record crowd expected today, attendance through Tuesday was estimated at 495,779, which is 150,000 above the total for the first five days last year. In eight days last year a total of 508,103 persons marched through the fair gates.

Many concession operators, pleased by the way business has been, credit the Roy Rogers show with booming the fair's attendance. The Rogers show closed Tuesday night after playing to standing room only audiences since the fair opened last Friday.

Today was Directors of Agriculture and Ohio Fair Managers' Day. Sales of 4-H and FFA steers in auction sales are featured. Red Foley and his Ozark Jubilee take over the grandstand entertainment.

DROODLES

"FLAT BEER"

This Droodle was suggested by a Magician friend of mine, Chan Canasta. Chan isn't actually a Magician. He's more of a human Univac machine and does psychological magic by telling people what they are thinking about. He stopped by the Schwine-Kitzenger Institute with me last Monday and offered to give a free demonstration by telling us what Mrs. Schwine was thinking about. Unfortunately for us she had just been watching Liberace on TV and when Chan started revealing her thoughts, she got so embarrassed she started throwing beer cans. That's when Chan did his best trick of all. He disappeared.

ter Eden met with Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd. The general expectaion was that Britain would kick out two Egyptian diplomats in retaliation.

The London Daily Mail reported a move under way for a Western combine of nations to buy or lease the canal from Egypt, with much of the money to come from the World Bank.

The Mail says Egypt could use the money—reportedly somewhere between 200 million and 560 million dollars—to build the Aswan high dam.

Nasser said he nationalized the canal to get the money for the billion-dollar dam on the Upper Nile after the United States and Britain withdrew their offers to help finance the project.

Sen. Bender Denies He Abuses His Franking Rights

COLUMBUS (AP) — U. S. Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) says his weekly news letter goes to relatively few people.

Bender made the comment in answering charges Tuesday that he used congressional free mail privileges in campaigning for re-election.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche, Democratic candidate to unseat Bender, called Bender's free use of the mails a "trespass upon the rights of taxpayers."

In Ceveland, Sen. Bender said: "The weekly news letter 'This Week in Washington', like those sent out by most members of Congress, goes only to a small portion of my constituents."

He added that he augmented the franking privilege with personal income in answering most of his constituents.

"The franking privilege is the most important right accorded members of the House and Senate," the senator said, "and I have not abused it. It is the one source of communication between members of Congress and their constituents."

Mingle said the patrol also will have at least one plane aloft to watch traffic.

Pickaway Sweet Corn Led Ohio In 1954 Listing

Top 100 Counties In U.S. Include This Area 80th

Pickaway County led the state of Ohio when sweet corn was harvested for sale from 608,568 acres on farms in the United States in 1954.

Of the total acreage, 59.5 percent was from 100 leading counties, according to 1954 Census of Agriculture figures released today by the Bureau of Census, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Only two Ohio counties were mentioned in the top-ranking 100.

The other Ohio county, ranked close behind Pickaway for its sweet corn harvest in that year, was Erie County.

Palm Beach County, Fla., was the leading county in sweet corn acreage in 1954 with 17,352 acres —2.8 percent of the U. S. total.

Columbia County, Wis., ranked second with 11,780 acres; Yakima, Wash., third with 9,733; Faribault, Minn., fourth with 9,586, and Dodge, Wis., fifth with 9,437 acres.

* * *

IN THE list of 100 counties, Pickaway ranked 80th, with 1,980 acres for sweet corn harvested for sale. Erie County, ranked 82nd, had 1,898 acres.

The top 100 counties were distributed by states as follows: Minnesota, 20; Wisconsin, 16; Ilinois, 12; Maryland, 10; New York, 6; Idaho, Indiana and Oregon, 5 each; Pennsyvania, 4; Caifornia, Iowa, New Jersey, Ohio and Washington, 2 each; Alabama, Deaware, Florida, Massachuetts, Michigan, Texas and Utah, 1 each.

Jury Indicts LaMarca On Kidnap Charge

MINEOLA, N. Y. (AP) — Angelo John LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic, was indicted today for kidnaping and felony murder of little Peter Weinberger.

The Nassau County grand jury acted quickly, returning the indictment just two hours after starting deliberations.

The child's grief-stricken mother, Mrs. Betty Weinberger, and several investigators were called into the jury room in swift succession to testify.

The charge of felony murder is technically different from a first degree murder charge. It charges the death of a person during commission of a felony—in this case kidnaping.

A jury may recommend mercy with a conviction of felony murder, contrasted to a mandatory death sentence for first degree murder.

A conviction for kidnaping, under state law, may include the death penalty if it is proved the victim died as a direct result of the kidnaping.

The Weinberger boy was snatched July 4 from his carriage in the yard of the family's home in Westbury.

The FBI announced arrest of LaMarca Aug. 21 and turned him over to county officials. The infant's body was found the next day, in a thicket near a rural road. The mother identified clothing as that of her son.

One of the defendant's two lawyers, David Markowitz, said he expected LaMarca to enter a plea of temporary insanity "caused by his desperation over debts."

Guard Officer Graduate Of Rifle School

First Lt. Bob Shaw of 224 N. Scioto St., battalion staff assistant with the 166th Infantry Regimental Combat Team, Ohio National Guard, graduated from the National Small Arms Firing School held at Camp Perry Aug. 24-27.

The firing school was conducted for expert riflemen and rifle instructors in the various branches of the armed forces. Lt. Shaw qualified for the school by firing high score at the ONG Summer training camp held this month in Kentucky.

Over 5,000 armed forces personnel from all sections of the country participated in the weapons course at the Camp Perry firing ranges.

Shaw reportedly ranked 15th in a group of over 1,500 men firing the M-1 rifle. The high score posted by the local guard officer qualifies him as an expert rifle instructor.

The school was under the direction of an M-1 rifle committee from Fort Benning, Ga.

Recover Second Body In Area Where U.S. Plane Shot Down

WASHINGTON (AP) —The Navy today announced recovery of the second body of a crewman of the patrol plane which was shot down off the China coast last Thursday.

The first body was found Friday in an area about 90 miles southeast of Shanghai and near the eastern fringe of the islands which flank the South China coast.

A brief message from the 7th Fleet, charged with search operations in the area, said that the body of the second crew member was found by a U. S. destroyer in the general vicinity where bits of wreckage and the first body were previously recovered.

The crewman was not identified.

The Navy Mercator plane had 16 men aboard. Communist China admits having shot down a plane the same day the U. S. craft went down, but says it attacked a Chinese Nationalist aircraft.

President Eisenhower discussed the incident this morning with Secretary of State Dulles and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The White House did not announce the results of the discussion.

Dulles said afterwards that investigation of the incident was a complicated, time-consuming process involving the identification of plane fragments and debris and measurements of currents and tides.

State Department officials have taken the position that they need more information before deciding what course of action to take in the affair.

Meanwhile, they were reported considering making public the text of a note from Peiping concerning the incident. The note, disclosed by Dulles Tuesday, was described by some informants as nonbelligerent in tone and even containing a provisional apology.

While the Reds asserted that the aircraft they attacked was Chinese Nationalist they reportedly said also that if it turned out to be an American plane they were sorry about the incident.

Likely Applicant Found For Job On City Council

Cook's Successor Will Probably Be Named Tuesday

Republicans in city council apparently have a willing replacement for Lee Cook, who resigned last meeting as spokesman for the second ward in preparation to moving from the city.

Councilman Richard Penn declined to give the name of the potential appointee, but added:

"From what he says, I know he'll take the job if it's offered to him. However, he doesn't intend to campaign for it, or anything like that."

The potential appointee is a former school teacher.

For the next two meetings, council will have the authority to appoint a replacement for Cook, whose resignation became official at the August 21 meeting. However, if the lawmakers fail to agree on the appointment within the customary 30-day period, Mayor Bob Hedges can make the appointment.

* * *

THE Democratic bloc on council apparently has no preference to conflict with the man who will be suggested by Penn. For a time they considered a local school official but were advised that legal technicalities would block the appointment.

Council President Ben Gordon said the job "seems to be wide open" for applicants.

It seemed likely a decision on the vacancy will be made when council meets next Tuesday, the day after Labor Day.

Set Negotiations Friday On Long Telephone Strike

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP)—Company and union negotiators have tentatively agreed to resume negotiations Friday to try to settle the 45-day-old strike at the Consolidated Telephone Co., Frederal Mediator E. L. Phillips said Tuesday.

The meeting was scheduled for 2 p. m. at Portsmouth.

The mediator said the meeting was contingent on whether contempt of court proceedings filed by the company against 56 strikers are completed in time. A hearing is scheduled on the company charges Thursday morning in Scioto County Common Pleas Court before Judge James Lang Jr., of Adams County, sitting here on assignment. The company claims the strikers violated a court injunction restricting pickets.

The strike by some 600 members of the Communication Workers of America began midnight July 14 upon expiration of a one-year contract between the company and union. Disputes over working conditions have barred agreement on a new contract.

Fugitive Shot By Cincy Policeman

CINCINNATI (AP)—Thomas Bradley, 31, was shot fatally today by a policeman after he reportedly wielded a knife and then failed to obey a command to stop running.

Patrolman Dan Downing fired the shot which felled the man, a former convict. Police Sgt. Don Hopewell said Downing and Patrolman Harold Klopp forced Bradley's automobile to the curb after the man had driven through a stop sign.

When Downing asked to see his driver's license, Bradley reportedly struck the officer and slashed at him with a knife before starting to run.

Bradley was paroled last May after serving part of a 1-25 year term for armed robbery and assault to kill.

U.S. Observers See Red Playing Political Game

View Russ Trying To Prod Nasser Into Rejection

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Department officials believe that Russia is playing a tricky and dangerous game of Middle Eastern politics by campaigning against international operation of the Suez Canal.

The danger lies in the increased risk of military conflict if the Soviets should prod Egyptian President Nasser into rejecting any satisfactory settlement with the Western powers.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference Tuesday that Soviet propaganda to Egypt was denouncing the international opism" and "colonialism."

Obviously, Dulles said, "the effect of that—presumably the intended effect—was to make it as difficult as possible for President Nasser to accept. Nevertheless, I do believe that President Nasser has a sufficient influence and authority to accept a fair plan."

Nasser agreed Tuesday to meet with a committee which will carry to him the internationalization proposal adopted by last week's 22-nation conference in London.

But Nasser did not commit himself to accept the Western-sponsored proposal or even to use it as a basis of negotiation.

* * *

WEEKS OR perhaps months of negotiation may be necessary to determine the eventual outcome. There is yet no indication what Nasser considers a fair plan.

Although three Far Eastern nations joined Russia in voting against the plan at the London conference, Dulles said all the nations except Russia "were really trying to find a way to a peaceful and fair solution."

Diplomatic experts said the Russian game apparently is to maintain some degree of turmoil in the Middle East, to worsen Western ties with Arab nations—particularly Egypt — and to build Soviet power and influence in the Arab world.

Meanwhile the Egyptian embassy in Washington announced Tuesday night it was undertaking to recruit pilots in the United States to help guide ships through the 103-mile channel. Egyptian officials had already taken similar action in some western European countries.

The State Department had anticipated such an Egyptian move here and decided in advance that the United States government would not object.

Officials said the stated policy of the United States is to keep the channel open and operating and if some American citizens want to contribute to that purpose by becoming canal pilots the government will not stand in their way.

They might be advised, however, that the canal now is a trouble zone and that they might encounter some risk in going there at present.

More Plotters In Riesel Case Held By FBI

18 and held in $100,000 bond as a material witness.

Two other alleged conspirators in the attack were arrested Aug. 17. They are Joseph P. Carlino, 43, who is not related to Charles, and Gonfolfo Miranti, 37.

* * *

THE FBI gave this account of how the gang allegedly mapped out and executed the attack:

Johnny Dio and Tuso met with Miranti at his candy store a few days before the attack. Miranti then got in touch with Bando, who, through Joseph Carlino, procured the services of Telvi.

After the attack, Miranti hurried to a meeting with the two Dios and Tuso. He reported to them that the job had been done.

But he had some bad news. Some of the sulphuric acid aimed at Riesel's eyes had splashed on Telvi's face.

Miranti was therefore ordered to make certain Telvi did not run to a doctor for treatment.

The FBI has said Telvi was later wiped out because his acid-marked face made him a living, tell-tale link to the crime.

Passenger Hurt When Passing Cars Tangle

Fred Barton, 22, of Columbus suffered a possible fractured pelvis in a two car collision six miles south of Circleville on Route 23, Tuesday at 12:30 p. m. He was taken to Berger Hospital for treatment.

The injured man was a passenger in a car driven by Donald J. Farrell, 53, of Canton. Farrell's automobile was reportedly struck from the rear by a vehicle belonging to David L. McDowell, 21, of Columbus.

According to Deputy Sheriff Charles Felkey, the accident occurred when McDowell attempted to pass the Farrell car.

Before McDowell could get around the vehicle in front of him, his car struck the left rear of Farrell's automobile, Felkey claimed. Both vehicles were heavily damaged.

McDowell was cited for not having assured clear distance.

Retailers Promote Fall Lines; Makers Show Spring Togs

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) —The semi-annual drive to get men to dress better—or, rather, to spend more on clothes—is getting underway today on several fronts. Some in the apparel industries are taking tips from fashions of 30 years ago. Some are looking to the latest in blends of man-made and nature-made fibers.

Retailers are set to promote their fall lines come Labor Day with its return to school, college and office. And the fall lines in most cases carry higher price tags than last year, with rising labor costs blamed by the manufacturers.

Clothing manufacturers, meanwhile, have turned their backs on the new fall lines the stores are showing. They will start displaying their next spring lines this coming week and announce the new prices. Chances are suits will go higher. Already there's a prediction that men's shirts will go up 5 per cent by spring.

Natural fibers have been staging a comeback and man-made fibers have been in a slump. So many mills making synthetic textiles are closing down for the entire Labor Day week, hoping that will trim inventories.

But at least one of the man-made fibers is looking for better days come spring. Du Pont's textile fibers department reports that 21 leading makers of lightweight suits and sport coats and many slack manufacturers will show blends of 65 per cent or more "dacron" and cotton in the 1957 spring-summer lines due to open soon. Du Pont looks for a 60 per cent increase in yardage sales—to five million yards in 1957, up from three million this year.

Men whose memories go back before the days of the so-called miracle fibers will get a nostalgic twinge out of drives to revive such fashions of the twenties as knickers and white flannel trousers worn with double breasted blue blazers and to turn the recent fad for caps into a full-fledged revival.

The knickers they'll be pushing this year aren't like the old plus fours that dominated the mid-twenties. The new knicker is snug at the knee and the industry is aiming first at hunters and trappers and will sneak up on the suburbs later.

Nixon Retreats To Write Speeches

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon flies today to New Jersey to rest and write some of the speeches he will make during "an extensive and vigorous" campaign tour next month.

L. Richard Guylay, public relations director for the Republican National Committee, said tentative plans call for a "backbreaking schedule" of aerial visits, with speeches averaging more than one a day.

Although details were not announced immediately, Guylay said the first campaign swing will last 10 days or two weeks, starting about mid-September.

Bender Wants Lausche To Campaign Like A Democrat

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Republican U.S. Sen. George H. Bender appears determined to make his opponent campaign like a Democrat.

That's the interpretation politicos place on Bender's new blasts at Democrat Gov. Frank J. Lausche, who seeks to unseat Bender come Nov. 6.

Bender termed Lausche "a political fence sitter" and again dared the independent-minded governor to a series of debates in advance of the election.

Still smarting under Lausche's refusal to engage "in a shouting contest with you," Bender asserts the governor should tell Ohioans why he is running for senator.

Engrossed in the Ohio State Fair the governor says he will wage his usual type of campaign this fall. That includes the "county fair circuit."

Both candidates apparently are bidding heavily for the so-called independent vote. Politicans say Lausche has been highly successful in that direction and must continue if he wins again in Ohio where more Republicans than Democrats usually vote.

Bender asserted Lausche made "phony statements" by hinting in 1950 that he favored reelection of the late GOP Sen. Robert A. Taft. actually, Bender said, Lausche campaigned with Taft's opponent, Joseph T. Ferguson, then state auditor. Lausche said recently he voted for Taft.

But what really burns Bender is Lausche's reaffirmed hint that he might vote with Republicans to organize the next Senate if elected. Lausche hinted he might do that to assure a Republican president of a GOP-controlled Senate.

Bender's friends termed the statement an attempt to rob the senator of a prime campaign argument. Republicans, anticipating President Eisenhower's reelection, claim Bender's election might be the deciding vote in regaining control of the Senate from Democrats.

Bender asserts Ohio needs an experienced full time senator like himself instead of one who plays golf frequently. He alluded to Lausche's liking for the game in which he scores in the low 70's.

Ohioans expect Bender to have help in his campaign from Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, cabinet members and other top drawer members of the party. Bender said former presidential nominee Thomas E. Dewey of New York, an old golfing partner of Lausche, has offered to help.

Although some Democrats criticize Lausche's show of political independence, others offer him their help.

Sen. George Smathers, chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee, says he will be glad to answer any Lausche request for aid.

"So far as I am concerned," the Floridian said, "I don't have to worry about how he will vote.

"He's an independent Democrat, but a Democrat nonetheless. I believe when he gets here (in Washington) he'll vote Democratic."

All of which, politicians opine, adds interest to a cruicial campaign in Ohio that has attracted national interest.

Lausche has been quoted variously as saying the race was a cinch and as expressing doubts over his prospects.

"A lot of people feel that I will be elected, but I'm not so sure," Lausche said at the recent Chicago Democratic convention. But if I feel that way about it," he added with a laugh, "then my opponent feels even less sure."

State Mediation Of Telephone Dispute Called For By Solon

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A state representative wants the Industrial Commission to mediate the Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. strike that disrupted service in several southeastern counties.

Rep. James P. Kilbane (D-Cuyahoga) said he made the request at the insistance of Mayor V. R. Rife of New Boston, a suburb of Portsmouth that lost service because of the 44-day-old strike marked by violence.

Gov. Frank J. Lausche recently called on the Communication Workers of America and the company to settle their differences without disrupting telephone service.

Kilbane is a member of a legislative study committee that began looking into Ohio laws on workmen's compensation, arbitration and mediation, and minimum wages. The committee, a branch of the fact - finding Legislative Service Commission, expects to make recommendations for the next session of the General Assembly.

Kilbane said he felt the State Department of Industrial Relations should look into the telephone strike but recalled that the last Legislature refused to transfer mediation authority to that branch.

Director Margaret A. Mahoney of the Industrial Relations Department said statute permits the Industrial Commission to promote arbitration.

"It should be in the Industrial Relations Department," she told the committee. "The law is doing no good on the books at the present time. It hasn't been used and it won't be. You should either repeal the law or bring it up to date."

The committee adopted a motion by Rep. Paul B. Siple (D-Lawrence) calling for a check of states having labor relations departments with a view to such an addition in Ohio.

Also adopted were motions by Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr. (R-Montgomery) to consider whether Ohio should set up intrastate collective bargaining machinery and by Kilbane for a study of minimum wage laws to correct weaknesses.

Administrator Joseph Scanlon of the new Workmen's Compensation Bureau said first payments to injured workmen now are made within 20 days and that the time soon may be cut further. He attributed reduction in the time lag on payments of uncontested claims largely to the new law creating the bureau last October.

An aide said the bureau would cooperate with any actuary the service commission hires for a study of workmen's compensation rates and classifications.

The last Legislature authorized the commission to employ the actuary but Charles W. Ingler, research supervisor, said restrictions made it difficult to obtain anyone wth proper qualifications.

Rep. John Lehmann (R-Stark) reported that a claim for workmen's compensation filed Sept. 30, 1953, had not been investigated and asked Scanlon why. Scanlon took the case number and said he would look into it. The case was not identified.

The greatest length of life of a housefly is approximately 62 days.

Truck Leaks Acid; Boy Cyclist Burned

ST. LOUIS (AP) — James Badger, 13, sprayed by sulphuric acid which had leaked from a truck, was burned critically as he rode a bicycle in suburban Lemay.

A passing tank truck splashed the acid on him. He lost control of the bicycle and fell to the street. His shirt and trousers fell away. A quick thinking witness sprayed him with a hose he was using to water his lawn.

Badger was burned on his chest, arms, face and legs.

The truck driver said a valve apparently jarred open as he crossed some railroad tracks. About 4,000 gallons of acid escaped.

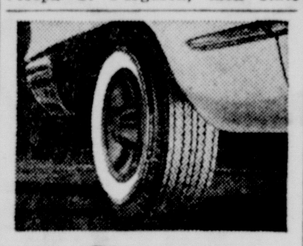

Measured solely in terms of immediate cost, some prescribed medicines seem to be expensive, but measured in terms of health benefits, they are the biggest bargains for the money. In the first place, you're up and about in a fraction of the time formerly required to cure many illnesses. And what's more, because of their efficency the newer "wonder drugs" may actually save you hundreds of dollars in medical bills, hospital stays, and loss of income. Your prescription dollar buys more cure today than it ever did.

Design For Airpower

(Editor's Note: This column is furnished as a public service by the Office of Information Services, Air Research and Development Command, U. S. Air Force.)

On Top the World

Flights to the moon are decades off. But already the Air Force is probing super-altitudes where planes of tomorrow will operate.

Many problems to be encountered at those altitudes can be simulated in high-altitude chambers — huge boxes in which the air is as cold and thin as it is "upstairs." But some problems cannot be solved on the ground, like the question: What happens to a pilot who bails out and falls miles through space?

Aeromedical officers from ARDC's Wright Air Development Center, Ohio, volunteered to find out. Balloons will be used to take them as high as 90,000 feet because, so far, no operational airplanes can fly that high. A special gondola, 7 feet across and 7 feet high, is being constructed from aluminum and magnesium.

After many months of ground tests, preparation and training, three flights are scheduled at another ARDC Center—Hollomon Air Development Center, New Mexico. The first flight is expected to reach 63,000 feet, the next 75,000 and the last 90,000 feet.

When the balloon reaches its scheduled altitude, one of two officers aboard will jump from the pressurized gondola, his parachute opening automatically at 15,000 feet after miles of free fall. His companion will cut the balloon loose and ride the gondola down to 20,000 feet at which time he will bail out, too. A recovery chute will bring the unmanned gondola down.

The balloonists will be rewarded for their courage by a sight never seen by men before. They will be literally and figuratively on top of the world.

Kangaroo Airplane

A jet fighter nuzzles up to the big bomber . . . a metal arm reaches out . . . the jet is lifted gently into the gaping bomb bay of the bomber like a baby kangaroo into the pouch of its mother.

This is not science fiction but one of a series of Air Force tests which proved the possibility of "landing" fighter planes on large mother aircraft.

In the tests, an F-84 "parasite" fighter approaches a specially modified B-36 from below and hooks onto a boom which pulls the fighter into the carrier's bomb bay. After change of pilots and replenishing of ammunition, the F-84 is lowered, unhooks from the boom and resumes its mission.

Aerial refueling would permit the carrier aircraft to remain aloft for extended periods. Jet fighters and interceptors can also be refueled but their time in the air is limited by the endurance of the pilot and ammunition supply. The "kangaroo" technique might take care of that!

Who knows, this technique may even have commercial possibilities. Just imagine changing from the local to the express in mid-air!

Lifesaver Pill

If the "Mae West" life vest could talk, it could paraphrase the famous words of the actress for which it was named by saying: "Why don't you come up and save me sometime?"

It would say these words to a newly-developed pill which helps to automatically inflate a life jacket when its wearer drops into the water.

Life jackets are provided with two small cylinders containing compressed "Carbon dioxide" — the same harmless gas bubbling from soda water. When strings on the cylinders are pulled, the gas escapes into the life jacket and blows it up like a balloon. The inflated jacket keeps the wearer afloat.

But pilots dropping into the ocean after bailing out from a disabled aircraft may be stunned and unable to pull the strings. That's where the new pill device comes in.

When a pilot "hits the drink," water forces its way to the pill which quickly dissolves with a fizz and produces a cloud of gas. Through an ingenious mechanism, the gas operates the valve through which the jacket is inflated. The whole process takes only fifteen seconds.

There are pills to ease headaches or help digestion. But this is the first pill that can save a man from drowning.

Air Facts and Figures

The wing tanks on a heavy jet bomber are as large as some fighter aircraft.

A wind tunnel used to test aircraft models is four stories high and its huge motors produce winds of more than 1,400 m.p.h.

The fire control system of a modern combat plane contains more than 70,000 solder connections.

LET'S EXPLORE OHIO STATE PARKS

An ancient glacier that covered northern Ohio had much to do with making Clear Fork State Park a popular recreational area for picnickers, hikers, campers and fishermen.

This 500-acre park, nestled among the wooded foothills of the Appalachian Mountains that rise out of the rolling plains of central Ohio near Loudenville on State Route 97, was formerly known as the Mohican State Park.

After the retreat of the great ice sheet, two streams, one flowing east and the other west, had their headwaters on a narrow plateau in Ashland County. Later another advancing glacier dammed the western stream, backing up water until it cut through the divide to form the Clear Fork gorge that delights so many visitors today. This stream, a tributary of the Mohican River, is the major feature of the Clear Fork State Park. Along the stream are interesting hiking trails and picnic facilities. Fishermen by the thousand try their luck as they wade this clear rushing water. And tent campers in growing number use the facilities of this State Park.

Two of the most important Indian highways of the Ohio Country crossed within the limits of this Park. The Great Trail from Fort Pitt to Detroit and the Cuyahoga War Trail were paths of history through the Clear Fork State Park. Major Robert Rogers traveled this route on his way back from Detroit with his famous rangers. Appleseed Johnny (John Chapman) was frequently seen in this area as he visited his apple orchards.

Upstream a few miles from the Clear Fork State Park is Pleasant Hill Lake, one of the ten blue water lakes of the Muskingum Watershed Conservancy District and the 1200-acre Mohican State Forest is a neighboring tourist attraction of considerable popularity.

Says Seaway Hampered By Sectionalism

CHICAGO (AP) — The head of an organization promoting St. Lawrence seaway commerce said today that "a multiplicity" of groups are hampering Great Lakes port development.

Dr. N. R. Danielian of Detroit, president of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Assn., in testimony prepared for a U. S. Senate subcommittee, said "Sectionalism has come to bedevil the Great Lakes area, setting one community against the other."

Dr. Danielian is one of eight organization representatives invited to testify at a two-day hearing by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's subcommittee on the Great Lakes, headed by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn).

The subcommittee is gathering views on proposed legislation which would give Congressional consent for a compact among the eight states and two Canadian provinces bordering the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River to deal with matters of common concern.

Dr. Danielian told the subcommittee that his association headed up coordinated efforts to smooth the way for actual construction of the seaway and deepening of channels connecting the Great Lakes.

"Since the beginning of the work on the St. Lawrence project," Danielian said, "there has been evidence a centrifugal force as a result of which there has occured a mutiplication of organizations professing interest in the same things, but going in many directions, and duplicating effort."

He said "This is true in the federal establishments as well as among states, municipalities and industrial interests around the Great Lakes area."

The states and provinces involved in the proposed compact are Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Ontario and Quebec.

Sift Six Tons Of Garbage For Cash

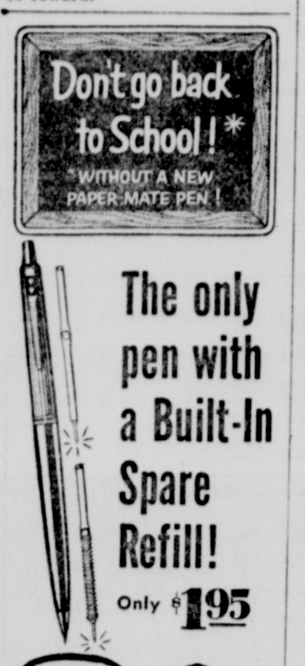

NEW YORK (AP)—Three sympathetic garbage collectors dumped two tons of refuse into a Bronx street just so a worried woman could recover $530.

Mrs. Rosalie Mirabel, 32, operator of a stationery store, ran down the street and halted the refuse truck after recalling she had absent-mindedly placed an envelope with the money in her garbage can.

The three men emptied the truck and spent 30 minutes sifting through the garbage before they found the money.

The woman gave the three a $5 reward.

FREE PRESS BULWARK

AMERICANS have a bad habit of taking their unparalleled freedoms for granted. Nowhere else in the world can a human being exercise as much choice in buying, reading, associating, joining, criticizing, traveling, speaking or type of work as in this nation. Perhaps the main reason this Republic has been able to not only maintain, but strengthen, the freedoms inherited from its founders is freedom of the press.

Freedom of the press is really the hub of our basic freedoms, without which the others could not survive. It is a simple matter of record that the first force a dictator must capture is the press, for with it free his climb to power would never start.

Throughout the world today there are many examples of dictatorships of one kind or another, but in each case there is one outstanding similarity: The government owns and operates or dictates the policy of the newspapers. One need not look past the communist world for evidences of this suppression. There is not one free, privately owned newspaper anywhere behind the iron curtain.

But the Soviet Union and her satellites are not the only countries where freedom of expression is a crime. India, the greatly overrated "neutral," is a prime example of the rapidity with which freedom deteriorates in a country which allows suppression of the press. The newspaper industry of that state is so regulated that it is no more than a subsidiary of the government. At this moment there is a bill being pushed through the Indian parliament which would control the price a paper may charge a subscriber and an advertiser, the quantity of advertising a paper may carry, the size of the newspaper and even the elimination of such entertainment items as crossword puzzles.

It is to the eternal credit of the American newspaper industry that it has no firmly entrenched itself in a tradition of honesty and conscientious objectivity that even the boldest radical dare not attack it. Americans may well be proud of their newspapers for the great forum of expression they provide.

CHANGES IN ORATORY

WHAT MIGHT be termed the age of oratory has passed. It went out with the lyceum and the chautauqua. Platform speakers who held their audiences with the charm of words and neat phrasing, who said little to be remembered but said it with a technique which came from long practice, no longer are abroad in the land, available at so much per night.

Bryan, Cadman, Sam Jones, Billy Sunday and scores of others gave America a deluge of oratory which made most of them wealthy men.

In their place has come a new generation, equally effective but with different qualifications. Radio and TV have been responsible. Broadcasting makes certain demands upon the human voice. The microphone magnifies all the faults of diction.

Taken as a whole, the change has been for the better.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

There is extraordinary excitement over the report that Soviet Russia will produce 1,200,000 trained engineers and scientists during the present decade compared with 900,000 to be "turned out" in this country.

The phrase, "turned out" is particularly applicable because that precisely is what is being done in so many schools which pretend to educate men and women. These are really vocational schools rather than colleges or universities and the men who come out of them may have learned a trade but they have not been nurtured by the long line of human culture.

It does not seem to me that the difference in numbers is really important but that the intellectual quality, the capacity for personal intiative, the freedom to make mistakes without fear of reprisal, and a social environment that produces contentment and happiness are what matter. If Soviet Russia can achieve such ends better than we can, its leadership in the world will be greater than ours; if we achieve such ends by education, our accomplishments will be greater.

Professor Benjamin H. Williams of the Industrial College of the Armed Forces says in "Social Science":

". . .When we consider that the future dominance in the world may be decided within the narrow fields of guided missiles and atomic bombs, the Russian power of concentration may turn out to be ominous to a nation that diffuses its activities over wide areas of products, including many luxury commodities and services."

This represents the fear psychology of those who relate themselves to military affairs. A nation that produced only guided missiles and atomic bombs, but no thinkers, no poets, no philosophers, no historians would soon be as barren as a desert. Many of the great civilizations of the world disappeared because they devoted themselves only to conquest and defense. The Uzbeks were once a great people and produced the philosopher, Avicenna, but the Uzbeks were involved in the interminable wars of Genghis Khan and his pages of history. Today, what is left of them, compose a minor republic of Soviet Russia, a weak and backward people held in abject slavery by the Soviet state.

Williams quotes Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission as saying:

"More than half of all Russian university graduates are in the science-mathematics fields; only one-fifth of our graduates are in those fields. Russian Ph.D.'s, or the equivalent, are three to one in favor of science and engineering; in the United States the ratio is just the reverse—nearly three doctorates in the humanities for every one in science and mathematics."

Precisely what does that prove? It only goes to show that a large number of intelligent young men and women in the United States have faith in the future of their country and their civilization and are preparing themselves to meet other problems than the manufacture of guided missiles and atom bombs.

Many of those to whom Strauss refers are preparing themselves in the social sciences which are as important as engineering if this country is to survive this period which Williams calls the Age of Peril. Many are linguists historians, musicians, artists, clergymen. Are we only to train for war?

Challenge For Dr. Mays

CHAPTER 33

STELLA continued quietly, earnestly, displaying no rancor, using no emphasis or inflection that would serve as commentary upon her experience. In the same objective fashion, she went on to mention that Dr. Wilkins-Smith had told her husband much the same thing when Stella had brought Newell around to talk to the doctor.

Dr. Gaskins glanced at the dark-haired young man on the window sill. Newell nodded. Then he said thoughtfully, "He knew that I worked for a newspaper. I believe that was an item—with him."

From halfway down the table there was a stifled roar. His lawyers no longer able to restrain him, Dr. Wilkins-Smith was on his feet, his face splotched with anger, his voice choking in his throat. He tried to speak, sputtered, tried again.

". . . certainly unethical," he shouted, his voice cracking. "A doctor—rig a case against a hospital—size—prestige—"

Chad glanced toward Stella as she sat down, looking distressed. Chad waited for Dr. Wilkins-Smith to fall silent again; the small, dark lawyer was tugging at his coat tail. Finally the doctor did sit down.

"It was unethical for a doctor," said Chad Mays then, calmly, "for me, to rig a case against a hospital and against another doctor. It sure was just that!" He stopped and looked at the ceiling. "Just about as unethical," he estimated, "as it was for you, Dr. Smith, to rig a case against us. You were waiting for Mrs. McCrillis, were you not?"

"I had never seen the woman before in my life." His contemptuous tone made Newell stiffen and half rise.

Chad waved his hand toward the reporter, who subsided. "You had given blanket orders, had you not, for all reports from the Clinic to be brought to your attention?"

"I had!"

"And when you found this case—tailored, you thought, to your purposes, even to the means for attaining full publicity—you took full advantage of it. In Stella McCrillis you thought you had a frightened young woman, someone you could manipulate to your own advantage, to the clinic's ruin. And were you ever wrong!"

"Dr. Mays," interrupted the Chairman, "did you send Mrs. McCrillis to the County Hospital?"

"As I indicated previously," Chad hedged suavely, "and as you know, too, being a member of the County Medical Society, we'd had reports from within his own hospital that Dr. Wilkins-Smith was —er—careless about substantiating some of his diagnoses. The Society decided against action or investigation.

"Well, I had previously talked the general situation over with Mr. McCrillis; I had told him that I hoped to find out what lay behind the County Hospital's opposition to us. He knew that I was waiting for a break, and when Stella's case offered such an opportunity he agreed that I should use it. Stella herself had almost no knowledge of what we had in mind. We told her it would help us if she'd take her neck through the Clinic, and then on to County Hospital; she was to accept no treatment until she'd talked to Newell. But—yes; certainly, it was a trap, and certainly it was unethical in the purest sense of the word.

"But may I mention that the way Dr. Wilkins-Smith fell into the trap indicates that he was traveling paths foreign to the tread of your normal and ethical doctor. He undoubtedly thought Stella's case was pre-cancerous—but didn't bother to check. Given a chance at newspaper coverage, he used it, and completely. He published our record in full—every one of the two hundred and twenty-two answers which Stella had written down, every finding of the doctors who had examined her—except that he had no idea of the actual histology performed. How he got that complete record is another question, and a very interesting one!" Chad's teeth flashed in a smile that was not humorous.

"Earlier he had given an interview to the press on the clinic in general. In his questions he asked how a forty-five minute check-up, one that was free, could possibly be thorough and good? To some people, those two hundred and twenty-two questions, and the various tests indicated in the stolen form, would imply a somewhat thorough examination. Though of course our examination is not entirely thorough. It is not meant to be. We explain that to each patient as he comes to us; we stress it in our publicity.

"As for being free, well, I'd wonder about that charge and the origin of its animosity if I didn't meet it every time I go about setting up a Screening Clinic. The people like it, the people are ready to accept this free service. But I've met a Dr. Wilkins-Smith . . ."

He spat forth the name contemptuously.

". . . every place I go." He stood thoughtful, then tilted his head to look at the enraged man across the table. "This one gets the leather medal, however," he mused.

"Doesn't the County Hospital," asked a voice down the table, "do a great amount of charity work?"

"I suppose it does, sir. Any tax-supported hospital would. Though if you pay your staff doctors by cases . . ." Chad coughed. "Besides," he went on, "our clinic is designed to reach all levels except those of pure charity. Indigents. Your Public Health service has to find and care for them. Does. We'd like to appeal to them—but we don't, too much."

"Public Health is concerned with all economic levels," said the Public Health man, somewhat stiffly.

"Sure," agreed Chad, "but let's confine the discussion to the service we offer, and to the people it actually reaches. Our clinic hopes to appeal to that large group of bill-paying folk who don't ask for charity, don't need it. A lot of them have hospitalization insurance. But whether they do or not, they pay their hospital bills when they get seriously sick, and our idea is not to let them get seriously sick if we can help it. A quick check-up at regular intervals will accomplish this—if we are permitted to give that sort of service. If we're not—the whole program collapses."

"Was it your idea, Doctor," asked the small, dark lawyer at Wilkins-Smith's side, "that we would, here and now, call off our suit, on the testimony of Mrs. McCrillis?"

Chad shook his head so that his hair tumbled from its smooth combing. "No, sir!" he said quickly. "One case doesn't prove a thing! It does, however, suggest a situation. A situation which we have therefore doublechecked." He leaned over to look more closely at Wilkins-Smith. "Haven't we, Doctor?" he asked gaily.

Some people thought the Republicans laid it on a bit thick in nominating Richard M. Nixon. They praised him as everything but R.M.N.

Spirits were running high in San Francisco hotels, too, it is reported. One grand old party after another.

The Republicans had more of a parade than a political convention. However, one Nebraska elephant ran amok.

That Joe Smith, whoever he is, may be famous long after you have to think twice to remember anyone else at the 1956 Republican convention. After all, it's the first time an absentee was the star of a show.

A lot of people at the Democratic convention furnished Republican campaign material. It took someone who was not at the Republican convention to return the compliment.

Nixon will remember the 1956 Republican convention as the convention of his second nomination. Delegate Terry Carpenter of Nebraska will remember the 1956 convention as his last.

This may be the era of the common man, but you can't get nominated at a Republican convention if you're just Joe Smith. You've really got to be somebody.

Mark Twain, alias Samuel Langhorne Clemons, once was pinned down on the verandah of the old Mountain View Hotel by a relentless bore whose theme was the decline and fall of everything. He poked a bony finger into Twain's midriff and croaked, "Has it occurred to you that every time I draw a breath, some hapless soul passes into the great beyond." "It has," sighed Sam. "Why don't you try cloves?"

"You and your big cigars," fussed Mrs. Klupper. "Do you know what there is in a single cheroot? Acetic, formic, butyric, propionic and prussic acids; creosote, phenol, amonia, and of course, nicotine, viridine, and picoline."

"For goodness sake," marveled Mr. Klupper. "You mean to say I get all that for a dime?"

What You Find In Your Mail!

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Odd facts a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That many highway accidents are probably caused by people who are slowly going blind and don't know it. The National Society For The Prevention Of Blindness estimates that fewer than half of the one million Americans suffering from glaucoma, a vision-destroying ailment, realize they have it.

That South Dakota doesn't require an eye test for driver's license applicants.

That Katzenellenbogan is the longest name in the current Manhattan phone directory. The man's an accountant, and anybody trying to forge his signature runs the risk of writer's cramp.

That the pretty lady whose portrait appears on some $100 Confederate bills was Lucy Holcombe Pickens, an ancestor of singer Jane Pickens.

That a grass cutter shaped like a golf club is now on the market for guys who want to practice their swings while mowing the lawn.

Why don't they build one shaped like an egg beater, too, so wives can join in the fun?

That while most of us spend our lives trying to understand economics, fewer than 5 per cent of U. S. high school graduates ever took a course in the subject.

That Saturday is a more dangerous day that Sunday for motoring. Last year Saturday accidents took 8,320 lives, Sunday 7,410. And will it make you more careful to know that three out of four accidents happen on dry roads in clear weather?

That U. S. miners dug nearly $66 million in gold from the ground in 1955—but the U. S. government kept nearly $22 billion in gold buried in a hole at Fort Knox.

That the first self-service "honor system" restaurant, the Exchange Buffet (the cashier took the customer's word for what he ate), opened here Sept. 4, 1885 . . . but no night club or bar has ever tried the system, so far as we know.

That the first trip across the United States by auto, completed Aug. 31, 1903, took 52 days. Thanks to traffic jams, it seems to take about the same time today to go across mid-town Manhattan.

That if you think caesarean births originated with Julius Caesar, you're wrong. While he is the most famous person ever delivered by this operation, it was known hundreds of years before Rome's greatest emperor was born. Six of every 100 babies today are caesarean deliveries.

DIET AND HEALTH

Prickly Heat In Babies

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

PRICKLY heat is a summertime menace for both adults and children. But babies seem especially susceptible.

If your baby has a really bad case of prickly heat, try bathing him several times a day with a specially prepared sponge bath. Sponge his whole body with a mixture of one quart of cool water and four teaspoonfuls of baking soda.

Don't Use Soap

As long as the rash of small raised spots exists, don't use any soap on that particular portion of his skin.

Calamine lotion or another mild lotion might prove beneficial. Baking soda, cornstarch or baby powder probably will help ease the itching. Be careful that the powder doesn't become caked in the creases of your tot's arms, legs and neck.

Dressing a baby properly in warm weather will help prevent the rash from developing in the first place. Perspiration, you see, is what causes prickly heat.

During extremely hot weather, your youngster should wear as little clothing as possible. Make sure that the clothes next to his skin are soft, lightweight linen or cotton.

Don't clamp a tight-fitting bonnet on a baby's head. This will only make him sweat. Before you know it, he'll have a bad case of prickly heat on his forehead.

Susceptible Areas

Some areas where the rash is likely to break out are a baby's face, chest, neck and shoulders. The bends of his elbows and his waist also seem to be particularly susceptible.

During hot weather I strongly advise you to change your baby's position in his crib frequently. This will expose most of his body to the air often enough to help prevent prickly heat.

WASHINGTON (AP)—When politicians — like former President Truman — promise repeal of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act if the Democrats win this year, it's strictly pie-in-the-sky stuff. Labor leaders know better.

Although top AFL-CIO leaders Tuesday recomended that the big labor organization endorse the Democratic presidential ticket, one thing can be predicted with certainty: No matter which party wins this election — Democrats or Republicans — T-H will not be repealed.

T-H was passed by a Republican-run Congress, but with Democratic help, in 1947. Ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Democrats have promised repeal if elected.

And ever since then — in their party platforms of 1948, 1952 and this year — the Republicans have promised changes in T. H. In spite of all the promises by both sides only one change, fairly small has been made.

The reason is simple enough; not enough members of Congress were willing to vote for repeal on either side. And labor leaders don't expect this election to produce enough congressional changes to bring about repeal, either.

As an example: Recently the AFL-CIO made a survey in the House of Representatives to find out the sentiment on repeal. They found only 183 members — combining Democrats and Republicans — who could be counted on to support repeal.

That was so far short of the majority needed in the 435-member House that no attempt was even made to find out the situation in the Senate.

That the labor leaders have no illusions in the way of big favors if the Democrats win, was expressed by George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

He said the Democrats' labor plank is better than the Republicans' and he agrees the Democratic plank gives the AFL-CIO even "more than we asked for." But he added:

The Democratic labor plank holds out more promises "than we'll probably get."

Why then did the AFL-CIO Executive Council vote 17-5 to recommend that its 15 million members back the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket? Meany's explanation:

1. Organized labor has more friends among Democrats than Republicans.

2. The labor leaders favoring endorsement argued it would weaken the cause of other Democratic candidates meaning those running for congressional, state and city offices friendly to labor if the AFL-CIO gave no formal support to the top of the ticket.

DiSalle Suggests Industrial Credit

MARIETTA, Ohio (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate Michael V. DiSalle says the possible formation of a state development credit corporation would offer a means to attract more industry to the state.

Purpose of such a corporation, DiSalle said, would be to "help finance expansion of new and small businesses where the growth potential is substantial, but the risk is too great for one bank to assume by itself."

In a speech Tuesday night before a gathering of Washington County Democrats, DiSalle also cited technical assistance in organizing industrial development programs as one of the pressing needs of the state's communities.

It is too easy to make such phrases. We have passed through several ages of peril in our history. This one seems more terrible than any other only because we are now alive. Surely the people of the South must have felt that they lived in an Age of Peril when Sherman was marching to the sea, devastating as he moved, destroying everything in his path. Only now, nearly a century later, is the South recovering from that frightful experience, its Age of Peril. But the South is recovering; that is the moral of the tale.

All the world was frightened by the meaningless march of the one called Alexander the Great in Europe and Iskander in Asia. But what has become of his Macedonia. It is a partitioned land of peasants. Of Alexander, little more remains that is significant but the memory that his tutor was Aristotle, as great an intellect as ever lived.

These conquerors come and go and are readily forgotten even if they leave monuments of themselves all over the place. Stalin was down-graded by his successors, but most of these so-called great men are down-graded by the course of events which measures their achievements in perspective.

Carolina Traveling Legislator Dies

CRAMERTON, N.C. (AP)—George Holden Tinkham, a colorful Boson blueblood who mixed travels to faraway places with 28 years in the U.S. House of Representatives, is dead at 86.

Tinkham, whose chest-length beard, his jaunts to places not listed in the tourist guides and his violent opposition to prohibition made him a figure in Congress, died Tuesday in his sleep at the home of a sister here. He had not been ill.

A Mayflower descendant, Tinkham, a Republican, served the 10th Massachusetts Congressional District from 1915 to 1943 when he retired at 72.

Two Die In Crash

MARYSVILLE (AP)—Russell Alexander, 46, of Richmond, Ind., and his wife, Louise, 35, were killed Tuesday when their car collided headon with a truck and trailer on U. S. 42, about a half-mile north of nearby New California.

The custom of funeral sermons is traced back to the primitive peoples of antiquity, who had certain ceremonies in connection with burial of the dead.

Pittsburgh Win Reduces Margin For Milwaukee

Brooks Split Twin Bill, Now Trail By Game And A Half

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Are Dale Long and the rest of Pittsburgh's short-lived heroes to become Milwaukee's pennant-block, just as the Pirates were to Brooklyn in 1954?

Brooklyn had edged to within a half game of first place in '54 and looked good and healthy with 10 games remaining against Pittsburgh in the last month and a half of the season. But the last place Pirates, who had lost 10 of their first 12 games with the Brooks, won five of those last 10, standing the Dodgers on end while the New York Giants copped the flag and the world championship.

The Pirates, who lost 12 of their first 18 games with Milwaukee this season, looked like the spoilers of old Tuesday night, coming from behind as Long hit a three-run homer to beat the Braves 5-4 and trim their National League lead to 1½ games over the Dodgers.

And except for the fact Brooklyn was playing a doubleheader in the only major league park without lights, the Dodgers might have been only a half game shy of the Braves today. The Brooks split the twinbill with Chicago's Cubs, winning the opener 6-4 on three ninth-inning runs, but losing the nightcap 4-3 when play was halted after 7½ innings by darkness.

In the American League, Mickey Mantle belted his 45th home run in New York's 4-0 victory over Kansas City in a game held to six innings by rain. The Yankees regained an eight game first place bulge as Cleveland lost at Baltimore 1-0. Chicago's White Sox split a pair with Washington, winning 5-3 after a 6-2 defeat. Detroit defeated Boston 6-3.

Long's poke triggered a four-run seventh that tied the score for the Bucs after Warren Spahn, seeking his 199th major league victory, had retired two men in the frame. Five straight hits set things up for the Pirates against the veteran southpaw. Dick Groat's infield single scored the clincher against rookie Bob Trowbridge in the eighth.

Elroy Face won it in relief of Dick Hall, who was tagged for Ed Mathews' 31st and 32nd home runs.

Don Newcombe, working in relief for only the second time this season, won his 21st for the Brooks in the opener as Carl Furillo popped a fly that fell for a two-run single and broke a 3-all tie in the ninth. In the nightcap, Gene Baker's 11th home run and a bases-loaded walk by reliefer Ed Roebuck broke up a tie game in the seventh for the Cubs. Duke Snider, sidelined by a knee injury, pinch-hit his 36th home run.

There were 13 home runs in the National League Tuesday and Frank Robinson's second of the night for Cincinnati was the 1,000th of the season. Long's was 1,001—still 262 shy of the major league record the NL set last season.

The Cincinnati rookie slammed two, his 33rd and 34th, while Ed Bailey added his 23rd to account for seven runs as the Redlegs routed the New York Giants 11-1.

In the other National League game, Philadelphia dumped St. Louis 6-4.

Pitcher Stars In Colt League Finale

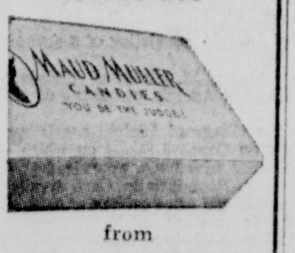

CHICAGO (AP) — Major league scouts are keeping a sharp eye on Jim Woods, a 16-year-old right-hander who pitched and batted Evanston, Ill., to the National Colt League World Series championship Tuesday at Comiskey Park.

Woods limited Austin, Tex., to three hits in a 5-1 victory. He also drove in a run on a sacrifice fly and hit a 370-foot homer into the left field stands.

Columbus Wins

TOLEDO (AP) — The Columbus Bart's Bars captured the ASA Ohio softball championship here Tuesday night by edging the Dayton Parkmoor Drive-ins 2 to 1 in the finals.

Tag New Lightweight Champ As 'Fighter Of The Month'

NEW YORK (AP)—Joe Brown of New Orleans, who outpointed Wallace (Bud) Smith the lightweight championship Friday night, was named "Fighter of Month" today in the latest rankings by Ring Magazine.

Rated eighth in his division a month ago, Brown was elevated to the top spot while Smith fell to third place. Smith has lost four fights this year.

Duilio Lloi of Italy held onto the challenger's role in the 135-pound class while Cisco Andrade retained the No. 2 position.

The only other prominent changes came in the bantamweight division as the result of the retirement of former champion Robert Cohen. Each of the fighters below him—from fourth to tenth—advanced a notch and the No. 10 place was taken over by a newcomer, German Ohm of Mexico, who has lost only one fight in two years.

In the heavyweight class, Willie Pastrano of New Orleans replaced Bob Baker as the No. 4 contender through his victory over Pat McMurtry, a Tacoma, Wash., heavyweight who had been unbeaten.

Eddie Machen, improving Redding, Calif., heavyweight, jumped from eighth to sixth on the strength of his knockout of Walter Hafer.

The latest Ring Magazine rating:

Light heavyweight: Champion, Archie Moore. 1. Gerhard Hecht, Germany; 2. Yolande Pompey, Trinidad.

Cincinnati Joins New Loop; Better Competition Foreseen

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Valley Conference voted unanimously Tuesday to admit Cincinnati and North Texas State as new members.

Basketball coaches of the two schools joined the league's other coaches here today and began drafting the 1957 - 58 basketball schedules.

Art Eilers, conference commissioner, said Cincinnati and North Texas will begin Missouri Valley Competition in the 1957 spring sports.

The two schools will strengthen the league's football situation, but they are not expected to find places on the schedule until 1958 or 1959. By that time there should be eight football members in the conference—Houston, Tulsa, Oklahoma A&M, Wichita, Drake, Bradley, Cincinnati and North Texas.

St. Louis University doesn't play football and Detroit University is leaving the conference after this season.

An athletics spokesman for the University of Cincinnati said joining the Missouri Valley Conference is "a step toward something better."

Bill Schwarberg, assistant football coach, said UC has been seeking some affiliation since it left the Mid-American Conference after the 1952 season.

Schwarberg said one of the main reasons UC left the Mid-American Conference it helped form was that "the conference wanted UC to play everybody in the conference."

"Several of the teams were not able to give UC too much competition. I think the general public and the fans thought that we could get a better schedule."

The coach said UC had won the Mid-American football championship every year except one while in the conference, which started in 1946.

Ohio Girl Tennis Star Moves Up

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Eighth seeded Carolyn Wikoff of Middletown, O., moved into the fourth round of the 39th U. S. girls lawn tennis championship today after a third round victory Tuesday over Elaine Hixon of Tampa, Fla., 6-0, 6-3.

In other play Tuesday Judy Hagan, also of Middletown, lost to Albertina Rodi of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-1, 6-1.

West Virginia's football schedule for 1957 shows four Southern Conference, four eastern and two Atlantic Coast Conference opponents. Boston U., Virginia Tech, Virginia and Wake Forest will be new.

Robinson Raps Two Homers In Cincy Rout

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Robinson, who looks like a good bet for rookie of the year honors, has far exceeded the expectations of Cincinnati Redleg Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

The powerful young outfielder slashed out his 33rd and 34th home runs of the season Tuesday night—tops for the Redlegs thus far—and accounted for four runs with them in Cincinnati's 11-1 triumph over New York.

When the season started, Tebbetts said he hoped to bring Robinson along gradually and would be satisfied "if he hits 15 homers this year."

The outfielder's hitting success Tuesday night was part of a general batting spree by the Redlegs, who pounded 14 hits off four Giant hurlers, including a three-run homer by Ed Bailey in the third.

Robinson was in on both ends of the scoring, smacking his first homer for the first two runs in the opening inning and his last four-base belt ending scoring in the seventh.

Nuxhall went all the way for the Redlegs, but he had plenty of problems in early innings. He filled the bases in the second, third and fourth innings, but managed to squelch the rallies each time.

The only Giant tally came early in the third when Jackie Brandt tripled Red Schoendienst home.

It was an attendance milestone for the Redlegs, whose 11,632 fans broke the all-time record for attendance at home games. It set the attendance so far at 983,590, compared to the previous record high of 981,443, reached in 1939.

Robinson Still Shies From Bout

CHICAGO (AP)—The International Boxing Club and middleweight champion Sugar Ray Robinson were no closer today on agreement of a title match with Gene Fullmer under sponsorship of the IBC.

Truman Gibson, secretary of the IBC, said early today "we're not nowhere but that doesn't mean it's out."

Gibson said the IBC had offered Robinson a fight in Chicago with home television but that Joe Glaser, Robinson's business manager, reported that the champ is cool toward a fight in Chicago.

Rifle Shoot Opens

CAMP PERRY (AP)—The week-long national high power rifle championships open here today with a field of 1,400 shooters, the biggest since World War II. Two divisions—Service rifle and match rifle—are included.

Circleville Gridders Hold First Practice Tilt With Aquinas Team

Circleville High School footballers received their first taste of gridiron combat under game conditions Tuesday morning when they met Columbus Aquinas in a practice session at the local high school field.

No official score was recorded on the scrimmage game. However, the Tigers, showing good offensive form at times, racked up four touchdowns while limiting Aquinas to only two TD's.

CHS coach Steve Brudzinski said the practice was held mainly to give local gridders experience in playing as a team under conditions similar to regular season games.

Aquinas, starting fast, moved all the way from their own 20 yard line to score the first time they had the ball. At first the Tigers encountered some difficulty in getting their offense rolling but managed to knot the score a few moments later.

* * *

THE OUTstanding play of the game for the locals was a Banks-to-Hosler pass good for 45 yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Banks completed several more passes for sizable gains during the contest.

Brudzinski stated he was pleased with the Tiger's showing, but added that the team as a whole is far from being a smooth running outfit. The CHS gridders held their first team practice only a little over a week ago.

After observing yesterday's practice session, the coach explained that the boys need more body contact work and practice in perfecting plays.

The CHS 1956 gridiron edition is not as big as last year's squad in the weight department. But the local coaching staff expressed hope that speed on the part of this year's team would offset the weight disadvantage.

Another practice game is scheduled with Logan Friday at 7 p. m. The contest will be played on the Circleville field under the lights.

Steelers Try To Sharpen Up Their Attack

OLEAN, N. Y. (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers, losers in both National Football League exhibitions this year, are aiming to sharpen up their offense.

And the key to the problem, according to Coach Walt Kiesling, is finding a replacement for quarterback Jimmy Finks, who quit the pro league for an assistant coaching job at Notre Dame.

The Steelers resumed practice today and Kiesling shook up his offensive team in an effort to decide who will be his No. 1 quarterback.

The Steelers don't play again until Sept. 8 when they meet the Chicago Bears at Pittsburgh. By that time, Kiesling hopes to have made his choice among Ted Marchibroda, Jack Scarbath and Maurice Duncan.

Marchibroda was with the Steelers last season but sat it out while Finks held the spotlight.

Scarbath, former star at Maryland University, was with Ottawa in the Canadian League last season. Prior to that he played with the Washington Redskins.

Kiesling told sports writers in Pittsburgh Tuesday he's trying to sharpen up his offense. It has been woefully weak as the Steelers lost 37-16 to the Baltimore Colts and 20-15 to the Detroit Lions.

California Youth Signed By Giants To Bonus Pact

NEW YORK (AP)—Mike Francis McCormick, star 18-year-old left-handed pitcher from Bakersfield, Calif., has been signed by the New York Giants to a bonus contract, reputedly for more than $50,000.

McCormick, 6 feet 2 and 185 pounds, pitched two no-hitters in winning 12 games and losing none at Makell High School in Arcadia, Calif., this spring. He added three more no-hitters to the list in American Legion junior baseball competition, and then in the Hearst newspapers sandlot tournament struck out all 15 boys who faced him.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, in announcing the signing, said McCormick would report to the team Friday. As a bonus player, McCormick must remain with the Giants for two years before he can be farmed out.

Every major league club was after the young Californian.

Six National League players in 1955 hit more home runs than Mickey Mantle who won the American League homer crown with 37.

Hank Aguirre's Balk Brings Indian Defeat

BALTIMORE (AP)—A first inning balk by Hank Aguirre, young Cleveland Indians southpaw, gave the Baltimore Orioles a 1-0 victory over the Tribe Tuesday night.

Aguirre and Baltimore's Ray Moore allowed only four hits apiece, but Aguirre's balk did the damage.

It sent Bob Boyd, who had singled, to second base, and he scored on a two-out double by Bob Nieman, a grounder that bounced off third base.

Aguirre then balked again, sending Nieman to third, but Gus Triandos flied out to end the inning.

Moore pitched to only 30 batters. Only five got to first base, and none got to second.

Aguirre walked only two and Herb Score, who pitched the eighth inning, walked one. Besides the two hits in the first inning, Aguirre limited the Orioles to a single by George Kell in the fourth and a single by Triandos in the seventh.

It was the fourth 1-0 shutout against the Indians this season, and dropped them eight games behind the New York Yankees.

Ex-Lions Gridder Gets Divorced

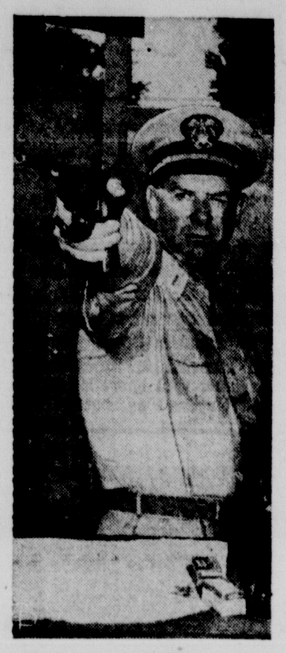

DETROIT (AP) — Les Bingaman, former middle guard on the Detroit Lions professional football club, was divorced Tuesday by his wife, Lois.

Mrs. Bingaman charged that her 340-pound husband beat her, neglected her and made her feel unwanted. She charged mental and physical cruelty.

Baltimore Colts Release Two Men

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP) — The Baltimore Colts have placed halfback Gene Hendrix and center Jack Taylor on waivers, reducing the roster to 49 players.

Hendrix, from Drake University, and Taylor, from Austin College, Tex., both had the same failing—lack of speed for the pro game.

WINNER of the International Free Pistol event at the National Rifle matches at Camp Perry, O., Navy Chief Warrant Officer Offutt Pinion of Harbot City, N. J., will represent the U. S. in that event at the Olympic Games in Australia later this year. (International)

Redlegs Planning Appreciation To Fans Day Sunday

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs, expecting to pass the million mark in attendance some time this week, will observe "Appreciation to the Fans Day" at Crosley Field next Sunday. The ball club never has played to a million fans.

Gabe Paul, general manager, said that five fully equipped automobiles will be given to the five fans who come closest to guessing the attendance at Sunday's contest with the Chicago Cubs. Presentation will be made at the home plate immediately following the game.

"Our paid attendance now is 972,960," Paul said, "and we expect to pick up the remaining 27,040 to reach the million mark for the first time in history in the three games with the Cubs."

The old mark for attendance is 981,443, and was set in 1939 when Cincinnati won the pennant.

The automobiles will be given "in recognition of the wonderful support we have received from fans of this area," Paul said in announcing Sunday's program.

In the event of any ties in the guesses, which must be turned in by the end of the second inning, the winners will be determined by baseball quiz, Paul said.

Rory Calhoun Risks Gloves Chain Tonight

CHICAGO (AP) — Unbeaten Rory Calhoun of New York and Spider Webb of Chicago clash in a 10-round middleweight bout at Chicago Stadium tonight.

Calhoun, 22-year - old former dishwasher who will be seeking his 24th straight victory, was an early 9-5 favorite.

Rory has scored 12 knockouts and recently defeated Charlie Cotton in 10 rounds at New York. Before meeting Cotton, Calhoun stopped Willie Vaughn in eight rounds at New York.

Frank Gilmer, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said the five point scoring system will be introduced in tonight's fight. Heretofore, the 10 point system had been used. The winner now gets five points and the loser four or less.

Webb, 24-year-old former national collegiate champion from Idaho State, is unimpressed over the fact Calhoun has been made the favorite.

Police Chief Tells Motorists To Keep Eye On Farm Vehicles

Merriman Hits 'Loophole' In Traffic Rules

Says Drivers Must Take Special Care At Harvest Time

Police Chief Elmer Merriman reminded motorists today that this is the time of year when farm vehicles are often involved in serious traffic accidents, especially on the highways outside the city.

"In the city we don't have too much trouble with the farmers driving their equipment, but on the rural roads such vehicles are a real menace unless motorists use extra precautions and stay alert," the chief said. The chief reason for this, he added, is because the drivers of farm vehicles are not obliged to follow the same rules as a motorist.

"State laws are tight on the automobiles, but they mean little or nothing as far as the farm vehicles are concerned," Merriman said. "Even in Circleville we don't have laws to restrict their use." The chief has been a long time critic of this loophole in traffic regulations.

For example, he pointed out that all passenger cars pulling trailers of any kind or size are required by law to have stay-chains as an added protective measure in case the trailers break loose from the hitch. "But there is no law stating that farm vehicles have to use such a safety precaution," Merriman said.

* * *

EACH YEAR many accidents happen because motorists overtake slower moving farm vehicles on the highway long before they expect to reach them.

The chief suggested that drivers should always be aware of this danger, especially at this time of year, in order to avoid such collisions.

Merriman also said "it's about time somebody emphasized to the average motorist that you find different problems when you drive on the turnpikes, expressways and other superhighways." Speeds permitted on these limited access roads, he explained, are higher than those allowed on the average public road—and drivers have to be extra alert accordingly.

"Across the northern end of the state and all around us they're whizzing along on superhighways these days," Merriman said. "And a lot of our local residents will be driving on these excellent roads in the course of their late-Summer vacations.

"Consequently, they should be prepared to drive a little different from the way they might drive around the county now. You get in fast company when you drive out on the superhighways, and you have to know what it's all about.

"After all, it's perfectly true that 'slow poke' drivers cause accidents too. You have to keep reasonable speeds."

Ohioan, Victim Of Far East Attack, Returning Home

TOKYO (AP) —The flag-draped casket of a U.S. airman, killed when a Navy patrol plane was shot down off Red China's coast last Thursday, left for home Tuesday by special plane.

Six white-clad sailors carried the coffin of Aviation Electronics Technician Albert P. Mattin of Delta, O., to the waiting C124 Globemaster transport plane.

Mattin's widow and three small sons, along with the wives and 10 children of five other crew members still listed as missing, were to follow in another plane early Wednesday.

Of the 16 men aboard the P4M Mercator, only Mattin's fate is definitely known. His body and bits of wreckage were found a day later in the Pacific about 100 miles southeast of Shanghai. The other 15 are listed as missing.

Says 'Fast Buck' Promoters Push Weird Jimmy Dean Cult

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The director who made Jimmy Dean's last picture accuses "fast buck promoters" of sparking a weird, morbid cult for the dead actor.

Newsstands lately have been flooded with articles, even entire magazines, devoted to such morbid topics as "Jimmy Dean Speaks From Beyond;" "Why Jimmy Dean Knew He Was Going To Die;" or "Why Jimmy Dean wanted to die."

George Stevens, who directed Dean in the upcoming "Giant," calls all of the stories ridiculous.

"Jimmy Dean lived every day for the future. He had no more premonition of death than you or I. These fast buck promoters, out to sell their magazines and souvenirs, won't let the poor fellow die in peace."

Many of the articles are accompanied by photos which Stevens said originally were intended as gag shots. One shows Dean beside an open coffin in a Fairmot, Ind., mortuary. Another is an autographed picture from Vampira, who did a ghoulish television act in introducing horror movies. She was a friend of Dean's and the picture shows her standing beside an open grave beckoning.

"The picture beside the coffin was made when Dean visited a high school chum in his home town. It was a gag picture that any young man might pose for on an impulse," says Stevens.

Stevens was a discoverer of Dean and knew him as well as anyone in Hollywood.

"His interest in speed, which ultimately killed him, was no more unusual than that of thousands of other young men who like to get behind the wheel of fast cars," he said. "He was in an accident. He was killed. It's as simple as that.

"Anyone who subscribes to this phony morbidity cult is doing an injustice to the memory of a great actor. I'm sure Jimmy would want to be judged solely on his talent and nothing else."

Tot Electrocuted

Probe Death At Veterans Center

DAYTON (AP) — The body of George Harvey, 60, a resident of the Veterans Administration Center here, was found Tuesday in underbrush behind the center's dining hall.

An autopsy showed that Harvey died of a skull fracture from a severe blow on the head. Montgomery County and federal agents are investigating.

Phony Check Ring Explored By Officers

COLUMBUS (AP)—Claude Garee, 34, formerly of Marysville, has pleaded innocent to a forgery charge as sheriff's deputies continued to check into activities of an alleged phony check ring.

Garee entered his plea before Judge Alan Schwarzwalder of the municipal court. He was bound over to the grand jury on a $25,000 bond.

Also pleading innocent to a forgery charge and waiving preliminary examination was Christine Kilfian, also formerly of Marysville. Her bond was set at $500.

Two Franklin County men have been arrested for questioning in connection with operation of a reputed forgery ring, but no charges have been filed, Deputy Clyde Mann reported.

Mann said an investigation is under way to determine whether Garee was connected with the ring.

The phony check ring, Mann said, is suspected of passing worthless checks in Findlay, Bowling Green, Toledo, Bellefontaine, Canton, Kenton, New Philadelphia, Newark, Massillon and Uhrichsville. He estimated the gang cashed $100,000 in bad checks.

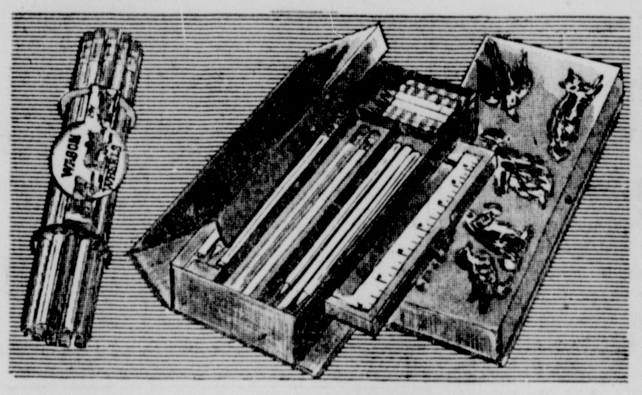

Garee was brought here from Perrysburg. He was arraigned there on a forgery charge and his bond was set at $5,000.
